

Railroad Dispute in New Phase After Arbitration Ruling

2 Unions Announce Court Challenge of Decision

BY NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The long strike-threatened railroad dispute rolled toward the courts today and a new legal tangle over an arbitration ruling permitting the elimination of thousands of firemen's jobs.

The ruling handed down Tuesday by a special panel, was ordered by Congress to forestall a nationwide strike last August and settle the key issues in the union-railroad struggle over work rules.

Two of the unions announced they will challenge the arbitration decision and its legal basis in the courts.

Thus a new snarl appeared to be added to the four-year dispute, and negotiations on what Congress figured were secondary also have bogged down. Each side blamed the other for the lack of progress in the talks, which cover such matters as wages.

2 Major Issues
The arbitration board had two issues to deal with—the firemen's jobs and the size of train crews.

It ruled that the carriers can gradually eliminate as unnecessary 90 per cent of the firemen on diesel freight and yard engines—about 30,000 jobs.

The train crew issue was turned back to the parties for further negotiations. The board, however, provided machinery for binding decisions on a local basis, supervised by the National Mediation Board, in situations where agreements can't be reached.

Strike Threat Seen
The arbitration award, as Congress wrote the law, would be binding for two years.

But other provisions of the law expire Feb. 25 and could lead to a new strike threat if there is no agreement on other issues such as wages.

Union spokesman H. E. Gilberg said the railroads' proposal to "cut pay 33 1-3 per cent" by changing the wage structure is not a secondary issue to the unions.

Congress left wages and some proposed work rules changes to be settled by negotiations between the unions and the 195 railroads involved in the dispute.

Gilbert told J. E. Wolfe, chief railroad negotiator, he hoped Wolfe would now "get down to negotiations" to eliminate any renewal of a strike threat.

Wolfe replied that if the unions did not cooperate in the negotiations, "we will be back where we were in August with the nation disturbed."

Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and Wolfe are members of the arbitration board.

IMP Testing Threat From Solar Flares

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — An interplanetary monitoring platform — IMP — soared through space today on a radiation-sensing mission vital to the lives of travelers to the moon.

IMP's prime assignment is to determine if satellite instruments can forecast solar flares on the sun. Flares spew torrents of radiation into interplanetary space.

Space Packet Ready
As IMP shot skyward Tuesday night, another Cape Canaveral launch crew made preparations to fire the high-energy Atlas-Centaur space rocket on an orbiting development flight between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. (EST) today.

IMP is a step toward a U.S. goal of foolproof solar flare forecasting before 1968-69 when the first three-man project Apollo teams are to take off for the moon. During these years, flare activity will be at a peak, with explosions possibly occurring as frequently as every 20 minutes.

A 90-foot tall Delta rocket propelled IMP on its voyage at 9:30 p.m. Project officials reported radio data indicated the three-stage rocket performed flawlessly.

The officials said exact path of the satellite will not be known for a day or two. IMP was aimed on a course ranging from 125 to 173,000 miles high.

Johnson to Follow 'Ideas, Ideals' of Slain President

Heart Attack in 1955

President Changed Habits To Assure His Full Recovery

BY JOHN BARBOUR
WASHINGTON (AP) — It isn't likely that President Johnson ever will forget that July day in 1955 as his car rolled through the Virginia countryside.

He had been working hard. As majority leader of the Senate under a Republican president, he was known as a master persuader.

Already there was talk about the Democratic nomination for president.

Now on this Saturday, July 2, he was bound for the Middleburg, Va., home of a friend. Suddenly it came—the severe pain in the chest.

Entered Hospital
There was the emergency examination by a local doctor who diagnosed a heart attack. Then the quick trip to the Naval hospital in Bethesda, Md., and the life-saving work of doctors.

A few days later, a fellow senator said doctors told him the 46-year-old Johnson had almost died. "The first few hours were extremely serious."

During his convalescence, the senator was probably a model patient.

He accepted the facts of the case well and did something about them. A chain-smoker, he quit smoking. Weighing about 220 pounds, he dieted—and in a few months was down to about 175.

Monthly Checkups
His convalescence progressed from the hospital to his Washington home to his Texas ranch. At his ranch, he began a careful regimen of exercise—short walks morning and afternoon.

Doctors then set about redesigning the life of Lyndon Johnson as much as the man's personality would permit.

Wife Shared Diet
The regular checkups every month spelled out the spectacular recovery. Blood pressure, normal. Pulse normal, x-rays showed no enlargement of the heart that would indicate it was compensating for some vital damage. Electrocardiographs returned to normal, showing the heart had recovered its regularity of function.

His wife, Lady Bird, helped by sharing his rigid diet.

On Dec. 14, one of his doctors was able to report.

"Senator Johnson is now active and his reactions to activity are normal."

Heart Attacks Kill 14 Hunters; 6 Die In Fatal Shootings

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Heart attacks killed 14 hunters and six died of gunfire as the death toll in the first four days of the 1963 Wisconsin deer hunting season surpassed the fatality total for all nine days of the season a year ago.

The 20 deaths so far in the 1963 hunt, which continues through Sunday, were three more than were recorded in 1962.

Matt Perala Jr., 73, of Superior, the father of State Assemblyman Reino Perala, D-Superior, died of an apparent heart attack Tuesday while hunting at the mouth of the Brule River in Douglas County.

Peter Prokaska, 73, of rural West Bend, collapsed and died of a heart attack Tuesday afternoon as he prepared to hunt alone not far from his Washington County home. His body was found 10 feet from his car, parked near a woods.

Elif Johnson, 59, of rural Muskego in Waukesha County, died Monday while hunting in the Powell area of Iron County. His body was found by a game warden called when Johnson failed to rejoin his hunting party.

Senate Starts Inquiry Into Assassination

Justice Bureau Reported to be Giving Support

BY JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee, reportedly in cooperation with the Justice Department, has launched an investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy.

Sources in a position to know, said that the Justice Department already has begun funneling information from FBI agents to the committee, headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, top GOP member of the committee, told newsmen he expected public hearings next month before Congress takes a Christmas recess.

Full Inquiry Sought
Dirksen told the Senate Tuesday night that a full-scale investigation by the Judiciary Committee had been approved by Senate leaders of both parties.

The inquiry will cover not only the assassination of Kennedy last Friday as he rode in a motorcade through Dallas, but also the subsequent slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin, by Jack Ruby, a Dallas night club operator.

The court of inquiry is necessary, he said, because it is the only way short of a trial to get witnesses to testify under the threat of perjury.

U.S. Asst. Atty. Gen. Herbert John Miller Jr. said as soon as the facts in the Kennedy and Oswald slayings are assembled they will be made public.

Miller is head of the Justice Department's criminal division.

The slaying of Oswald Sunday prevented a public trial to bring out the evidence collected by Dallas police in charging him with murder.

Appeals for End of 'Hate, Evil and Violence' in His Message to Joint Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told the nation and the world today that the ideas and ideals of John F. Kennedy "must and will be translated into effective action."

The new President appealed at the same time for "an end to the teaching and preaching of hate and evil and violence."

In a 1,500-word address prepared for a joint session of the Senate and House, Johnson specifically called for early congressional action to set up new civil rights safeguards and enact an $11 billion tax cut.

"No memorial oration or eulogy could more eloquently honor President Kennedy's memory than the earliest possible passage of the civil rights bill for which he fought," Johnson said.

He said "no act of ours could more fittingly continue the work of President Kennedy than the earliest passage of the tax bill for which he sought."

The new chief executive said "This is no time for delay — it is a time for action."

Johnson opened his address by saying:

"All I have I would have given."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will make a nationwide television address to the nation on Thanksgiving evening, the White House announced today.

The 15-minute address, scheduled for 6:15 p.m. EST Thursday night, "will be a Thanksgiving Day message to the people" from the new president, Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said.

The broadcast will be made from the president's oval office in the White House. It will be carried live on the National Broadcasting Company and Columbia Broadcasting System networks.

Johnson said, "are here on this hill" meaning in Congress.

Johnson appealed for United effort by a nation that goes forward "in action, in tolerance and mutual understanding." In one of his most emotional passages Johnson asserted:

"The time has come for Americans of all races and creeds and political beliefs to understand and respect one another. Let us put an end to the teaching and preaching of hate and evil and violence. Let us turn away from the fanatics of the far left and the far right, from the apostles of bitterness and bigotry, from those defiant of law, and those who pour venom into our nation's bloodstream."

Johnson expressed the hope that "the tragedy and torment of these terrible days will bind us together in new fellowship."

"Let us here highly resolve," he said, "that John Fitzgerald Kennedy should be remembered."

Santa Taken to Task for Not Serving Real Needs

No, Virginia, there's not a Santa Claus unless your Santa Claus is Santa 365 days a year, he's not a genuine Santa at all. In a straightforward warning to all would-be Santas, Frank Caplan, specialist in early childhood education, Princeton, N.J., pointed out that a child lives and learns throughout the whole year, and his living and learning are important every day of it. Bemoaning the statistics which record that 70 per cent of all toys are the eye-catchers bought as Christmas gifts, Mr. Caplan emphasized "A toy is not a once-a-year diversion. It is a child's means of learning—sometimes the only means by which he can explore his world and enlarge his experience."

Mr. Caplan called attention to a recent magazine article on "discovery" toys which points out, "Squinting at a water bubble or giggling at themselves in mirrors will not turn children immediately into nuclear physicists. But . . . if a child is given a bit of guidance, he may start to figure out the natural laws of his world in much the same way that the apple-braided Sir Isaac Newton did." And, the article continues, children being children, parents should not be disappointed if they find that their offspring also thinks it's fun. "What thoughtful parent," Mr. Caplan asks, "would give his one-year-old his quota of playpen toys at Christmas and ignore the child's developing abilities to walk and talk throughout the ensuing year?"

Parents who care about their children must give priority to the toys with which their youngsters can learn more about the physical world and its processes." Mr. Caplan urges that the use of money for Christmas be planned to give the child a "prepared environment for learning" at home. More Lasting Value "The toys that are meaningful, that give a child long-term play values beyond the 'gimme' impulse of the moment are those which give him a chance to practice people-to-people relationships, which introduce him to aesthetics and beauty of design, and which enable him to express himself and communicate, not through words alone, but through painting, sculpture, ing, play-acting, learning for himself." Here are some words of advice from Mr. Caplan to this year's Santas: Don't buy toys loaded with detail. Leave something to a child's imagination. If it looks cute to an adult, it was designed to appeal to an adult's eye for detail. Detailed models are invariably too fragile for fumbling young fingers. Detail restricts a toy's play potentials. Make sure the toy will hold interest every day of the following year. There are raw materials of play which serve a child's play-needs all year long, and often longer. Some of these are large-size building blocks, painting easels, large, well-made play people and animals, transportation toys that don't break, sturdy climbing equipment. These are the toys sought by child to invent or discover for nursery and kindergarten teachers who have to buy toys that last in interest and hold up under use 365 days a year. Be sure the child can enjoy the toy without a grown-up's help. Don't buy toys with complicated blueprints for use and assembly, toys which don't allow the child to invent or discover for himself. Save some money for later-on toys. Don't forget Johnny will be a very different individual by next June. A child's learning is a 12-month process. If you can't resist a gadget, make sure it's in the $1 to $2 range—a stocking-stuffer and not the important all-year-round toy. Don't waste a child's all-year learning opportunities by holding him back with a gadgety Christmas."

Birthday Sad, Quiet For Caroline Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today is Caroline Kennedy's sixth birthday. She had expected to have an ice cream-and-cake party in her White House home for the third year in a row. She could have expected her smiling, handsome father to come and watch the fun for at least a moment. He always did. She probably had her party dress all ready. White House emissaries had bought the party favors. Five days ago, Caroline and her brother John Jr., were suddenly taken to their grandmother Auchincloss' for dinner. They were back in their own beds at 4:30 a.m. when a Navy ambulance pulled up to the big front portico of their home amid television floodlights and their mother came up the steps with blood spattered on her clothes. Never Again. Next day, White House spokesmen said, Caroline and her brother learned the news that meant their father would come to no more of their happy parties. Their mother took them by the hand into the huge East Room where they had watched dancing and receptions and entertainment and where their father had stood stiffly in the doorway while the scarlet-coated Marine Band they loved played "Hail to the Chief." This time, there were black ribbons on the huge, glittering crystal chandeliers and a big coffin stood in the center of the room. Their mother took them by the hand—in their pale blue coats, red shoes and white socks—to ride in a long parade to the Capitol. When they climbed the long steps with her, the coffin was there again draped with a big American flag. Next day they drove with their nurse and met their mother at the church and went inside with her to listen to prayers and speeches. The coffin was there blood spattered on her clothes. After darkness fell Tuesday night, Mrs. Kennedy took Caroline to her father's grave for the first time. For about 10 minutes they stood alone in the soft blue glow of the flickering eternal light, and then went home—a home they would soon leave.

The Executive Editor of the Milwaukee Journal spoke to members of the Oshkosh Branch of the American Association of University Women Tuesday evening at the Twentieth Century Club. Oshkosh Above are editor Arville O. Schaleben and Mrs. Schaleben, Mrs. Herbert F. Krahn and Mrs. Lloyd Merbstreith. The editor stressed the need for understanding the news as well as the responsibility of newspapers keeping the public informed. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Editor Says Understanding As Important as Information

OSHKOSH—The importance of learning to understand Americans and other peoples of the world through the knowledge gained from the communications field, particularly newspapers, was stressed by Arville O. Schaleben, executive editor of the Milwaukee Journal in an address before the Oshkosh AAUW Tuesday evening.

Mr. Schaleben, originally scheduled to discuss "News-papers, Governments and the News," with emphasis on man-agement of the news by govern-ment, altered his original speech out of respect to the late Presi-dent John F. Kennedy. The Jour-nal executive stated that he origi-nally intended to criticize gov-ernment management of the news under the Kennedy admin-istration.

A Right to Know Since it is "the right of every citizen to know," groups which throttle, or attempt to throttle, newspapers, throttle them-selves," Schaleben contended. He declared that enemies de-nounce the American press first and many would try to hide im-portant news from the press.

"If we know something, do we understand it?" the Minnesota native asked. "There is an im-pelling need for progress through mutual understanding." The veteran newsman attributed the current communica-tions explosion to the growth of education and to the develop-ment of swifter word transmis-sion. "The American public is hungry for information and in-terpretation to understand the news," he remarked. He added that "The new status symbol is knowledge."

Admitting that this is the age of "the educated many," he ad-vised "we must take the time to understand what we know."

Learn to Understand "News is the product of the circumstances, emotions, educa-tion, biases and physical stam-pina of the reporters and edit-ors," he emphasized. "There is a terrific responsibility on the journalist. The reader is sub-jected to a complex of judg-ments—he must add his own to what he reads."

He stated that he hoped that

McKinley's Killer Wisconsin Born; Teddy Roosevelt Shot in Milwaukee

BY CHARLES HOUSE

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Scantly known or all but forgotten is the fact that Wisconsin was twice involved in presidential assassination attempts. One of the times in 1912, a New York tavern operator fired a revolver point-blank at Theodore Roosevelt, who was then a former president of the U.S.

The other attempt — this one on the life of President William McKinley in 1901 — was successful. The murderer was a Wisconsin man, Leon Czolgosz.

Roosevelt missed death by inches and by luck.

The former president had been out of office three years but, dissatisfied at the administration, he was campaigning this time on the "Bull Moose" ticket. Vice president under McKinley, Roosevelt became the nation's then youngest president at 42 when McKinley died in 1901. Roosevelt was elected Republican presi-

In Milwaukee, the New York he said. "It may be the last one I shall deliver, but I am going to deliver this one."

Hotel, a .38 calibre revolver in his pocket. The former president sat in a car in front of the hotel and then stood up to greet the crowd. It was the chance the bartender awaited.

He rushed forward and, six feet from Roosevelt, he fired point-blank.

Luck Prevails

There is little doubt that the shot would have killed the rough and ready former president, but good luck played a great deal in his escape from death. The bullet went through Roosevelt's heavy overcoat, through the folded sheets of his lengthy speech, through a metal spec-tacle case and against a rib which it fractured.

Roosevelt, stunned, fell back into the seat of the automobile, but recovered in time to prevent the angry crowd from lynching his assailant. Then, against the wishes of his friend, he decided to deliver the speech he had been scheduled to make.

"You get me to that speech,"

his audience would carry away this one thought: "Given the means to know, use your ability to understand."

The Journal Company vice president then turned his com-ments toward understanding of the Russian people, drawing on his experiences on a visit to the Soviet Union in the summer of 1962. "There is always a reason why a person's ideas differ from the ideas of his neighbor's," he declared. "We may alter those ideas or we may learn to live with them. To get along with the Communists we must think of each other as people," he cautioned.

He advised Americans to think of the problem as a Russian, not a Communist one. To the Rus-sian people "history is life itself and mother Russia is not Com-munism or Khrushchev," Mr. Schaleben remarked. "The Com-munists make the truly big de-cisions in the interest of Rus-sia, not in the interest of Com-munism, because they know the people will follow more readily something that is for mother Russia rather than for the party."

Patriotic, Sensitive The Russian people know little about America but they fear "America's big bomb." "They are fiercely patriotic and are sensitive to foreign criticism," Mr. Schaleben commented.

Contending that the promise of a great tomorrow is the safety valve of the Marxist system, Mr. Schaleben stated that "The Rus-sian people want more for them-selves." Discussing the improve-ment of Khrushchev over the "homicidal maniac" Joseph Stalin, the editor emphasized four things which Khrushchev has done: 1) he has given the people a far better life since the revolution; 2) his denunciation of Stalin has destroyed the Stalin myth; 3) he has eased East-West tensions; and 4) he has tried to avoid war by employing less aggressive policies—hasten-ing the split with Red China.

Goals Unchanged "Khrushchev is willing to wait to get what Stalin wanted fast," the editor declared, "but his goal of Communism is the same."

"I think the Russian revolu-tion is in great trouble and if it is their revolution against ours, we will win," the executive opined.

Commenting on Russian wom-en's revolt against dreariness, Mr. Schaleben told of their de-sire to acquire a "taste" for clothing, household items, ap-pearance, etc. "The young peo-ple have the best taste, the older people have not learned yet," he stated. "The women are now taking an interest in colorful, splashy clothing, hair dressing and weight reducing." Mr. Schaleben remarked. Both the women and youths ask about western habits.

Leadership of 3 of Big 4 Nations Changed

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The leadership of three of the Big Four Western nations has changed hands this fall. The chronology:

Oct. 15 — Konrad Adenauer stepped down as chancellor of West Germany, succeeded by Ludwig Erhard, economics min-ister.

Oct. 18 — Harold Macmillan resigned as prime minister of Great Britain, succeeded by Foreign Secretary Lord Home, now known as Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

Nov. 22 — John F. Kennedy killed by an assassin; succeed-ed as President of the United States by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The fourth leader, President Charles de Gaulle of France, was in Washington Monday for the funeral of President Ken-nedy.

One bullet had merely grazed him, the other passed through both walls of the stomach but struck no vital organ. Doctors were soon to announce that the nation need have no fear; that the President would recover.

But he did not. Infection took its tolls and in eight days Presi-dent McKinley was dead.

GOP to Halt Public Activity Until Jan. 1

State Chairman Announces Move In Respect to President Kennedy

Out of respect to the late President John F. Kennedy, the state Republican Party has decided to eliminate public political activity until after Jan. 1, 1964.

Talbot Peterson, Appleton, state GOP chairman, announced the GOP's decision today.

Peterson said the state Republican organization is making the move despite the statement by Louis Hanson, Mellen, state Democratic Party chairman, that "the business of politics cannot come to a grinding halt."

Peterson said: "We are Americans first and Republicans second and this is the least we can do out of respect to the memory of President Kennedy and his courageous family."

"As a result of this decision there will be no statement or news conference after our Dec. 6 meeting of the executive committee or after the meetings of the arts and science committee on Dec. 7.

"While the routine organization and fund raising work must continue on the county level, it is my hope that all public meetings of the Republican Party throughout the state will refrain from partisan statements or actions until after the first of the year."

Peterson said he would have made the statement Monday, but he just returned Tuesday night from a trip to the East.

Hanson said in Madison Tuesday that political activity of Wisconsin Republicans and Democrats will continue, although attacks may be subdued out of respect to the President who was assassinated in Dallas last Friday.

He said: "The business of politics cannot come to a grinding halt. We cancelled many meetings both immediately after the President's death and all through this week. But after this week, organizational meetings will have to resume."

Youth, 15, Hospitalized After Crash

A 15-year-old Appleton youth was in Appleton Memorial Hospital today for treatment of injuries received when he was tossed from a car on the E. Pacific Street bridge about 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Frank Bowers Jr., 1408 N. Vyne St., a passenger in a car driven by Roland G. Stephenson, 18, 1125 E. Melrose St., was bounced from the car as it struck a steel pole on the end of the bridge.

Appleton police said the car was going east on Pacific Street had passed a parked vehicle, crossed the center line on the bridge, swerved twice then struck the light pole.

Charles Manz, 79, 401 N. Clark St., received a slight cut on the nose after the car he was in blew a tire and struck a parked car in the 900 block of N. Division Street about 11 p.m. Tuesday. Appleton police said a car driven by Michael E. Kottner, 62, 1419 N. Wayne St., struck a car owned by Victor R. Wendt, 913 N. Division St. Manz was not hospitalized.

Collins, 117 E. Fourth St., played football at Kaukauna High School until he graduated in 1931, then played professional baseball with the Eau Claire Bears in the Northern League for three years. After returning from Eau Claire, he was a player and manager of the Kaukauna team in the Fox River Valley Baseball League for several years.

Pay Hikes Given to School Employees

Kaukauna Maintenance Men Upped $150-$500 Per Year

KAUKAUNA — Board of education Tuesday evening approved salary adjustments ranging from $150 to $500 per year for maintenance men and a 15-cent per hour increase for the one hourly paid employee.

Twelve maintenance personnel are involved in the pay increases which will take effect Jan. 1. At the same time the board attempted to set up a pay schedule governing hiring of employees in the future. Base pay was raised from $3,900 to $4,200 per year. The board approved a $150 per year increase after a 6-month probationary period whereas previously a 6-month salary adjustment was promised without a definite figure set. The schedule calls for a maximum of $4,900 after four years with merit increases granted after completion of a probationary period up to the maximum.

The board also approved payment of 50 per cent of employees' Wisconsin Physician Service insurance compared to the previous payment of 30 per cent. A request from the person who drives handicapped children to Plamann Park School for an increase in salary of from $2.50 to $3 per day was held for further study.

Site Committee
A site committee reported three property owners had been contacted on the south side of the city concerning acquisition of 10 acres of land with an option to purchase an additional five acres for future school sites. It was indicated property owners would submit letters as to price and terms for the January board session.

Members voted to retain the Mid-Eastern baseball conference schedule as it was in the past, noting any change would extend the season beyond the school year and result in additional pay for coaches and conflicts with American Legion baseball. If the board is outvoted by other conference schools, it agreed to restudy the matter.

Memorial Plaque
Approval was given to the purchase of a large plaque for the school on which names of the Lang Trophy winner will be inscribed. The late Joseph C. McCarty donated $50 to the school for purchase of the plaque.

Donald Dix was reappointed to a three-year term on the board of the Vocational and Adult School and the resignation of Miss Joyce Kaphingst, librarian, at the end of the school year was accepted.

Kenneth Smith, speech therapist, reported on his work among students on the grade and high school levels, played recordings of types of speech problems, explained purposes of trying to help the students and conducted a question and answer session.

Approval was received from the Kaukauna Electric and Water Utility to house the board of education vehicle in the Utility garage.

Mrs. William A. Egan, wife of the governor of Alaska, will sponsor the 238-foot vessel which will be christened the Tustumena. Mrs. Richard A. Downing, wife of the Alaska State Department of Public Works, will be a matron of honor.

After the ship is fitted out, it will depart from Sturgeon Bay on one of the longest delivery trips on record, made possible by the St. Lawrence - Great Lakes Seaway. The route will take the vessel down the Atlantic Coast, across the Gulf of Mexico, through the Panama Canal and up the West Coast, of the United States to Seattle, Wash., where it will be accepted by the state of Alaska.

One of the unique features of the Tustumena is an elevator for taking on automobiles and trucks at various levels. This is necessitated by tremendously high tides, ranging up to 30 feet, which the ship will encounter in its operation.

Girl Gets Letter From Kennedy

KAUKAUNA — Joline Secard, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Secard, 1400 Kenneth Ave., Saturday received pictures and a letter she will long remember.

About a month ago Joline, a sixth grader at St. Mary Catholic School, had a class assignment to write a letter. The letter did not have to be mailed but Joline composed and mailed one to the late President John F. Kennedy.

She explained her assignment, told him of her prayers for him and requested a picture of his family. Saturday, the day after the President was shot, she received a letter from Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln, personal secretary to the President, who thanked her for the prayers and letter on behalf of President Kennedy.

Enclosed was an 8 by 10-inch photograph autographed by the President and a second photo of Mrs. Kennedy and the two children.

Rifle, Like One Used to Kill President, Available by Mail

Chicago Firm Guarantees Money Back if Buyer Isn't Satisfied

BY RAY PY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
A mail order firm in Chicago which has been selling guns since 1885 promised Lee H. Oswald, 24, alleged assassin of President John F. Kennedy "100 per cent satisfaction or your money back" with the weapon he purchased from that firm in March.

Last Friday Oswald is believed to have fired the weapon three times, fatally wounding the President and wounding the governor of Texas.

Price: $12.78
Police and FBI officials believe that Oswald purchased the small, 7-pound Italian Army rifle for $12.78. For a price of $19.50, he may have received the rifle already equipped with a 4-power Japanese scope. The purchase included one free clip of ammunition and he could purchase more at $7.50 per 100.

An advertisement found in a man's magazine, boasted that the over-all length of the weapon is "only 40 inches, was test-fired and ready for shooting."

Oswald, it is believed, disguised the small weapon in a brown piece of paper and told friends and police he was carrying a "window blind" into the building in Dallas, Tex., from which the bullets were fired.

It is believed the Federal Bureau of Investigation knows of the mail order firm's name. A pharmacist in Dayton, Ohio, told the Associated Press he informed the FBI that a magazine he carried in his store advertised the exact weapon used in the assassination.

Pistols
Available to readers at "no money down and up to 10 months to pay" are various handguns including a .38 calibre Smith and Wesson revolver which also may have been purchased by Oswald and used to kill a Dallas policeman. Price of the pistol is $32.78. The firm also advertises that the barrel of the pistol can be shortened to three inches for $2.10 more.

Also available to purchasers is a U.S. M-1 30 calibre carbine ($78) and a U.S. Garand rifle ($78). A deluxe high

Large Asks Reynolds to Okay Pipeline

Bills Would Permit Appleton Water From Lake Michigan

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON—Sen. Gerald Lorge (R-Bear Creek) has asked Gov. John Reynolds to sign both bills approved by the legislature last week, designed to give the city of Appleton statutory authority to construct a water supply pipeline to Lake Michigan.

Lorge explained there has been some objection to the original legislative bills, sponsored by Assemblyman Froelich of Appleton and himself. Another was introduced, with the necessary amendment, and passed both houses.

Hence, to make the proposal effective and to eliminate all objections from Milwaukee and other sources, both propositions should be signed as a package, he wrote the governor.

The law now limits such pipeline construction to 30 miles, and is derived from authority sought by the city of Green Bay some years ago.

The original authorization proposed drew objections from the city of Milwaukee and others because it might have weakened a court challenge against the city of Chicago for diverting water from Lake Michigan.

The amended version provides a Wisconsin city within 50 miles of the Great Lakes can withdraw water from the lake only if purified effluent is returned to the basin, which in the case of Appleton could be achieved by way of the Fox River which is a tributary of Green Bay and Lake Michigan.

The amendment was drafted with the help of Roy Tulane, assistant attorney general and a specialist in water law.

Consulting Firm Seeking to Recover $7,800 From Citizens Committee in Winnebago County

OSHKOSH — Hearing has been set before Circuit Judge Arlan J. Cane for Monday morning in a law suit growing out of a study of the Winnebago County Airport made for a group of attorneys or in the alternative to suppress and limit the subpoena for the adverse examination.

The suit, being brought by A. L. Osmundsen of A. L. Osmundsen and Associates, Milwaukee, is to recover about $7,800 which Osmundsen states is still owing on the $9,880 bill he submitted to the Winnebago County Airport Citizens Committee.

Payments made previously were $1,500 by Associated Industries, Inc., Oshkosh, and $500 voluntarily paid by the City of Oshkosh on June 8, 1962. Associated Industries on its March 27, 1961 check for $750 marked the check as being final payment for the consulting service fee of Osmundsen.

Underwrite Survey
Associated Industries had indicated in a June 12, 1962 letter which enclosed the $500 check from the City of Oshkosh, that Oshkosh industry had agreed prior to the survey to underwrite the proposed cost of $1,500.

The original contract was verbal between the parties. Monday morning's hearing will be on an order to show cause as to why an adverse examination of Carl A. Biederman, committee chairman, should not be suppressed.

Attorneys for Osmundsen stated that affidavits in connection with the suit have been served on all defendants and that these affidavits state the nature of the action being brought by Osmundsen. The complaint has not yet been filed with the court.

Defendants Named
Named as defendants are Biederman, Franz Boschwitz, Hugo Eckhardt, E. G. Steinhilber, Leslie Ross, Gerald Shea, Carl Wolfgang, Louis Haltug, Morton Gazerwitz, John P. Mosling, Theodore Leyhe, John Vette, Philip Raddatz, Theodore C. Widder Jr., Edward Garthwaite, Robert Lund, Joseph F. Drexler, Harold Nankervis, John D. Dyer, Clarence Jeske, Thomas Schwalm, Steven J. Wittman.

Village Will Purchase Fuel, Lumber Firm

Little Chute to Pay $25,000 Over Four-Year Period

LITTLE CHUTE — Negotiations for the purchase of Little Chute Lumber and Fuel Co. have been completed by the Little Chute village board, according to Paul Kostka, village president.

The purchase is part of a long range planning program for village facilities expansion, according to Kostka. The board has paid $10,000 to the owners and given them a lot valued at $2,500 as initial payment and will pay the balance of the $25,000 sale price over a 4-year period.

The lumber firm is located at the north end of Wilson Street and is serviced by a main line of the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. with a switch track running onto the property. This will make it possible to receive supplies for the village by rail, Kostka said. The village will finance any improvements or changes to buildings which may be needed until the former owners vacate.

The firm, established in 1895, was originally known as the Garry Lumber Co. Later it was purchased and operated by Joseph Verslegen who in turn sold it in 1921 to A. P. Rock and Michael Karrels, current owners.

Area Involved
Several lumber storage buildings, a main office and a lumber work area are located on the 2.77 acre tract. The village will utilize a portion of the space housing machinery and equipment. Eventually the entire area will be utilized as equipment barns and storage depot.

An agreement allows the owners to continue in business until existing supplies are liquidated and until contracts with a Green Bay coal firm expires at the end of this winter.

KAUKAUNA — John R. Mau, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced Tuesday the Kaukauna City L.P. Gas Service has joined the organization as co-sponsor of the Outstanding Young Farmer program for the year.

Burt McIntyre, project chairman, said: "We are grateful to Leo Driessen and his firm for helping to make this project possible. This is our first local program and we are hopeful that it will become an annual project." The program honors young farmers in the area between 21 and 35 years of age who have made the most farm progress, greatest contribution to conservation and given unselfishly to the betterment of their community.

Gas Firm Manager
Driessen, manager of the gas firm, stated, "we are pleased to be associated with the Jaycees in this public service farm program. We only hope that our contribution will help bring greater recognition to the deserving young farmers of our community who are contributing so much to farming."

The local winner will be entered in state competition at Appleton Feb. 15. The winner at Appleton will receive an all-expense paid trip to Madison for the finals in national competition. To date 16 local entries have been received and the committee hopes to have from 50 to 75 entries, according to Robert Franz, OYF publicity chairman.

Venison or Trespassing?

Little Chute Hunter Bags 'Expensive' Buck

WAUPACA — "It's the principle of the thing," Leroy H. Kuse, 31, 930 E. Lincoln St., Little Chute, said Tuesday morning after he paid a fine of $50 to Municipal Justice George Whalen after pleading guilty to trespassing.

Kuse learned there is more involved in getting a deer than just shooting it.

He related the following story to the Post-Crescent reporter Tuesday morning after he paid his fine, claimed his deer and was getting ready to return to his Little Chute home.

"I was walking through the marsh in the Town of Caledonia Sunday noon. I was alone when I saw a buck going through the woods and heard five shots. Later I saw another deer and heard two shots.

Tangled in Brush
"I shot at the deer and it stopped. I figured I hit it but it ran into the willows. I followed it and found it with its horns tangled in the brush and fired another shot to finish it off.

"About eight or 10 hunters came and said it was their deer and I was trespassing. They said if I left the deer there, nothing would be done."

"I wanted the deer and told them to get a game warden. When no game warden was found, Sgt. Lyle McCully, a county policeman came. He took the deer and told me it would be taken to Waupaca."

Kuse explained that he had talked to an Appleton attorney and was advised to plead guilty to trespass rather than get involved in a long court case.

DA Decides
When asked about the disposition of the deer, Kuse said its ownership was decided by the Waupaca district attorney.

Alaskan Ferry To be Launched At Sturgeon Bay

STURGEON BAY (AP) — A passenger and car ferry that will operate between the Alaskan mainland and Kodiak Island will be launched at the Christy Corporation shipyard Dec. 14.

Mrs. William A. Egan, wife of the governor of Alaska, will sponsor the 238-foot vessel which will be christened the Tustumena. Mrs. Richard A. Downing, wife of the Alaska State Department of Public Works, will be a matron of honor.

After the ship is fitted out, it will depart from Sturgeon Bay on one of the longest delivery trips on record, made possible by the St. Lawrence - Great Lakes Seaway. The route will take the vessel down the Atlantic Coast, across the Gulf of Mexico, through the Panama Canal and up the West Coast, of the United States to Seattle, Wash., where it will be accepted by the state of Alaska.

One of the unique features of the Tustumena is an elevator for taking on automobiles and trucks at various levels. This is necessitated by tremendously high tides, ranging up to 30 feet, which the ship will encounter in its operation.

Federal Check For CD Siren System Received

City-county Civil Defense Director Lee Penney Tuesday received a $21,410 check from the federal government as part of matching payment for the civil defense siren warning system in Outagamie County.

The overall cost of the project which became operational on Sept. 7 is approximately $66,000, according to Penney.

Since local governments share CD warning system costs with the federal government, another check of about $12,000 is expected.

The $21,410 check is for equipment costs; the balance is for installation.
The all-county civil defense siren warning system was designed and installed by the Graybar Electric Co., Green Bay. The siren system was built by Federal Sign and Signal Co., Blue Island, Ill.

McKinley's Killer Wisconsin Born; Teddy Roosevelt Shot in Milwaukee

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Scantly known or all but forgotten is the fact that Wisconsin was twice involved in presidential assassination attempts. One of the times in 1912, a New York tavern operator fired a revolver point-blank at Theodore Roosevelt, who was then a former president of the U.S.

House

The other attempt — this one on the life of President William McKinley in 1901 — was successful. The murderer was a Wisconsin man, Leon Czolgosz.

Roosevelt missed death by inches and by luck. The former president had been out of office three years but, dissatisfied at the administration, he was campaigning this time on the "Bull Moose" ticket. Vice president under McKinley, Roosevelt became the nation's then youngest president at 42 when McKinley died in 1901. Roosevelt was elected Republican president in 1904.

In Milwaukee, the New York barkeep stood in the crowd near the old (now gone) Gilpatrick Hotel, a .38 calibre revolver in his pocket. The former president sat in a car in front of the hotel and then stood up to greet the crowd. It was the chance the bartender awaited.

He rushed forward and, six feet from Roosevelt, he fired point-blank.

Luck Prevails

There is little doubt that the shot would have killed the rough and ready former president, but good luck played a great deal in his escape from death. The bullet went through Roosevelt's heavy overcoat, through the folded sheets of his lengthy speech, through a metal spectacle case and against a rib which it fractured.

Roosevelt, stunned, fell back into the seat of the automobile, but recovered in time to prevent the angry crowd from lynching his assailant. Then, against the wishes of his friend, he decided to deliver the speech he had been scheduled to make.

"You get me to that speech,"

his audience would carry away this one thought: "Given the means to know, use your ability to understand."

The Journal Company vice president then turned his comments toward understanding of the Russian people, drawing on his experiences on a visit to the Soviet Union in the summer of 1962. "There is always a reason why a person's ideas differ from the ideas of his neighbor's," he declared. "We may alter those ideas or we may learn to live with them. To get along with the Communists we must think of each other as people," he cautioned.

He advised Americans to think of the problem as a Russian, not a Communist one. To the Russian people "history is life itself and mother Russia is not Communism or Khrushchev," Mr. Schaleben remarked. "The Communists make the truly big decisions in the interest of Russia, not in the interest of Communism, because they know the people will follow more readily something that is for mother Russia rather than for the party."

Patriotic, Sensitive

The Russian people know little about America but they fear "America's big bomb." "They are fiercely patriotic and are sensitive to foreign criticism," Mr. Schaleben commented.

Contending that the promise of a great tomorrow is the safety valve of the Marxist system, Mr. Schaleben stated that "The Russian people want more for themselves." Discussing the improvement of Khrushchev over the "homicidal maniac" Joseph Stalin, the editor emphasized four things which Khrushchev has done: 1) he has given the people a far better life since the revolution; 2) his denunciation of Stalin has destroyed the Stalin myth; 3) he has eased East-West tensions, and 4) he has tried to avoid war by employing less aggressive policies—hastening the split with Red China.

Goals Unchanged

"Khrushchev is willing to wait to get what Stalin wanted fast," the editor declared, "but his goal of Communism is the same."

"I think the Russian revolution is in great trouble and if it is its revolution against ours, we will win," the executive opined.

Commenting on Russian women's revolt against dreariness, Mr. Schaleben told of their desire to acquire a "taste" for clothing, household items, appearance, etc. "The young people have the best taste, the older people have not learned yet," he stated. "The women are now taking an interest in colorful, splashy clothing, hair dressing and weight reducing," Mr. Schaleben remarked. Both the women and youths ask about western habits.

36, was arrested and judged insane. He was to outlive the former president by many years. Roosevelt died in his sleep, aged 61, in 1919 Schrank died in Central State Hospital in Waupun in 1943.

Born in Lumber Town

Wisconsin's other shame was exposed in Buffalo, N.Y., by Leon F. Czolgosz, born and raised in a small, forgotten lumber community whose main strength was as a loading site and a service point for the lake clipper of the period. The community has long since passed away as have President McKinley, whom he murdered, and Czolgosz himself.

Czolgosz had left his home state and was an admitted anarchist who believed that "despotic rulers" should be slain. At Buffalo, on Sept. 6, 1901, he got his chance.

President McKinley was greeting hundreds of people at a reception at the Pan-American Exposition and Czolgosz slipped in to the line. A Secret Service man described what ensued.

"When Czolgosz came up I noticed he was a boyish looking fellow with an innocent face, perfectly calm. And I noticed that his right hand was wrapped in what appeared to be a bandage (it was a handkerchief).

"I watched him closely but was interrupted by the man in front of him who held on to the President's hand an unusually long time . . . it was necessary for me to push him along. . . Just as he relaxed the President's hand and the President was reaching for the hand of the assassin, there were two quick shots.

"Startled for the moment, I looked and saw the President draw his right hand up under his coat, straighten up, and, pressing his lips together, gave Czolgosz the most scornful and contemptuous look impossible to imagine."

When the crowd began to pummel the Wisconsin man, President McKinley said, "Let no one hurt him."

Infection Sets In

One bullet had merely grazed him, the other passed through both walls of the stomach but struck no vital organ. Doctors were soon to announce that the nation need have no fear; that the President would recover. But he did not. Infection took its tolls and in eight days President McKinley was dead.

The Wisconsin man was quick-

GOP to Halt Public Activity Until Jan. 1

State Chairman Announces Move In Respect to President Kennedy

Out of respect to the late President John F. Kennedy, the state Republican Party has decided to eliminate public political activity until after Jan. 1, 1964.

Talbot Peterson, Appleton state GOP chairman, announced the party's decision today.

Peterson said the state Republican organization is making the move despite the statement by Louis Hanson, Mellen, state Democratic Party chairman, that "the business of politics cannot come to a grinding halt."

Peterson said: "We are Americans first and Republicans second and this is the least we can do out of respect to the memory of President Kennedy and his courageous family."

"As a result of this decision there will be no statement or news conference after our Dec. 6 meeting of the executive committee or after the meetings of the arts and science committee on Dec. 7."

Youth, 15, Hospitalized After Crash

A 15-year-old Appleton youth was in Appleton Memorial Hospital today for treatment of injuries received when he was tossed from a car on the E. Pacific Street bridge about 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Frank Bowers Jr., 1408 N. Wayne St., a passenger in a car driven by Roland G. Stephenson, 18, 1125 E. Melrose St., was bounced from the car as it struck a steel pole on the end of the bridge.

Appleton police said the car was going east on Pacific Street, had passed a parked vehicle, crossed the center line on the bridge, swerved twice then struck the light pole.

Charles Manz, 79, 401 N. Clark St., received a slight cut on the nose after the car he was in blew a tire and struck a parked car in the 900 block of N. Division Street about 11 p.m. Tuesday. Appleton police said a car driven by Michael E. Kettner, 62, 1419 N. Wayne St., struck a car owned by Victor R. Wendt, 913 N. Division St. Manz was not hospitalized.

Pay Hikes Given to School Employees

Kaukauna Maintenance Men Upped $150-$500 Per Year

KAUKAUNA — Board of education Tuesday evening approved salary adjustments ranging from $150 to $500 per year for maintenance men and a 15-cent per hour increase for the one hourly paid employee.

Twelve maintenance personnel are involved in the pay increases which will take effect Jan. 1. At the same time the board attempted to set up a pay schedule governing hiring of employees in the future. Base pay was raised from $3,900 to $4,200 per year. The board approved a 15-cent per year increase after a 6-month probationary period whereas previously a 6-month

A site committee reported three property owners had been contacted on the south side of the city concerning acquisition of 10 acres of land with an option to purchase an additional five acres for future school sites. It was indicated property owners would submit letters as to price and terms for the January board session.

Members voted to retain the Mid-Eastern baseball conference schedule as it was in the past, noting any change would extend the season beyond the school year and result in additional pay for coaches and conflicts with American Legion baseball. If the board is outvoted by other conference schools, it agreed to restudy the matter.

Memorial Plaque
Approval was given to the purchase of a large plaque for the school on which names of the Lang Trophy winner will be inscribed. The late Joseph C. McCarty donated $50 to the school for purchase of the plaque.

Donald Dix was reappointed to a three-year term on the board of the Vocational and Adult School and the resignation of Miss Joyce Kanphingst, librarian, at the end of the school year was accepted.

Kenneth Smith, speech therapist, reported on his work among students on the grade and high school levels, played recordings of types of speech problems, explained purposes of trying to help the students and conducted a question and answer session.

Approval was received from the Kaukauna Electric and Water Utility to house the board of education vehicle in the Utility garage.

After the ship is fitted out, it will depart from Sturgeon Bay on one of the longest delivery trips on record, made possible by the St. Lawrence - Great Lakes Seaway. Rifle, Like One Used to Kill President, Available by Mail

BY RAY PY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A mail order firm in Chicago which has been selling guns since 1885 promised Lee H. Oswald, 24, alleged assassin of President John F. Kennedy "100 per cent satisfaction or your money back" with the weapon he purchased from that firm in March.

Last Friday Oswald is believed to have fired the weapon three times, fatally wounding the President and wounding the governor of Texas.

Price: $12.78
Police and FBI officials believe that Oswald purchased the small, 7-pound Italian Army rifle for $12.78. For a price of $19.50, he may have received the rifle already equipped with a 4-power Japanese scope. The purchase included one free clip of ammunition and he could purchase more at $7.50 per 100.

An advertisement found in a man's magazine, boasted that the over-all length of the weapon is "only 40 inches, was test-fired and ready for shooting."

Oswald, it is believed, disguised the small weapon in a brown piece of paper and told friends and police he was carrying a "window blind" into the building in Dallas, Tex., from which the bullets were fired.

It is believed the Federal Bureau of Investigation knows of the mail order firm's name. A pharmacist in Dayton, Ohio, told the Associated Press he informed the FBI that a magazine he carried in his store advertised the exact weapon used in the assassination.

Pistols
Available to readers at "no money down and up to 10 months to pay" are various handguns including a .38 calibre Smith and Wesson revolver which also may have been purchased by Oswald and used to kill a Dallas policeman. Price of the pistol is $32.78. The firm also advertises that the barrel of the pistol can be shortened to three inches for $2.10 more.

Also available to purchasers is a U.S. M-1 30 calibre carbine ($78) and a U.S. Garand rifle ($78). A deluxe high

Large Asks Reynolds to Okay Pipeline

Bills Would Permit Appleton Water From Lake Michigan

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—Sen. Gerald Lorge (R-Bear Creek) has asked Gov. John Reynolds to sign both bills approved by the legislature last week, designed to give the city of Appleton statutory authority to construct a water supply pipeline to Lake Michigan.

Lorge explained there has been some objection to the original legislative bills, sponsored by Assemblyman Froelich of Appleton and himself. Another was introduced, with the necessary amendment, and passed both houses.

Hence, to make the proposal effective and to eliminate all objections from Milwaukee and other sources, both propositions should be signed as a package, he wrote the governor.

The law now limits such pipeline construction to 30 miles, and is derived from authority sought by the city of Green Bay some years ago.

The original authorization proposed drew objections from the city of Milwaukee and others because it might have weakened a court challenge against the city of Chicago for diverting water from Lake Michigan.

The amended version provides a Wisconsin city within 50 miles of the Great Lakes can withdraw water from the lake only if purified effluent is returned to the basin, which in the case of Appleton could be achieved by way of the Fox River which is a tributary of Green Bay and Lake Michigan.

The amendment was drafted with the help of Roy Tulane, an assistant attorney general and a specialist in water law.

Consulting Firm Seeking to Recover $7,800 From Citizens Committee in Winnebago County

OSHKOSH — Hearing has been set before Circuit Judge Arthur J. Cane for Monday morning in a law suit growing out of a study of the Winnebago County Airport made for a group of attorneys or in the alternative to suppress and limit the subpoena for the adverse examination.

The suit, being brought by A. L. Osmundsen of A. L. Osmundsen and Associates, Milwaukee, is to recover about $7,800 which Osmundsen states is still owing on the $9,880 bill he submitted to the Winnebago County Airport Citizens Committee.

Payments made previously were $1,500 by Associated Industries, Inc., Oshkosh, and $500 voluntarily paid by the City of Oshkosh on June 8, 1962. Associated Industries on its March 27, 1961 check for $750 marked the check as being final payment for the consulting service fee of Osmundsen.

Underwrite Survey
Associated Industries had indicated in a June 12, 1962 letter which enclosed the $500 check from the City of Oshkosh, that Oshkosh industry had agreed prior to the survey to underwrite the proposed cost of $1,500.

The original contract was verbal between the parties. Monday morning's hearing will be on an order to show cause as to why an adverse examination of Carl A. Biederman, committee chairman, should not be suppressed.

Attorneys for Osmundsen stated that affidavits in connection with the suit have been served on all defendants and that these affidavits state the nature of the action being brought by Osmundsen. The complaint has not yet been filed with the court.

Defendants Named
Named as defendants are Biederman, Franz Boschwitz, Hugo Eckhardt, E. G. Steinbiller, Leslie Ross, Gerald Shea, Carl Wollgast, Louis Hallug, Morton Gazerwitz, John P. Mosling, Theodore Leyhe, John Vette, Phillip Raddatz, Theodore C. Widder Jr., Edward Garthwaite, Robert Lund, Joseph F. Drexler, Harold Nankervis, John D. Dyer, Clarence Jeske, Thomas Schwalm, Steven J. Wittman.

The firm, established in 1893, was originally known as the Garry Lumber Co. Later it was purchased and operated by Joseph Versteegen who in turn sold it in 1921 to A. P. Bock and Michael Karrels, current owners.

Area Involved
Several lumber storage buildings, a main office and a lumber work area are located on the 2.77 acre tract. The village will utilize a portion of the space housing machinery and equipment. Eventually the entire area will be utilized as equipment barns and storage depot.

An agreement allows the owners to continue in business until existing supplies are liquidated and until contracts with a Green Bay coal firm expires at the end of this winter.

The firm requires that each person who buys a weapon send along a signed statement saying he is over 21 years, not an alien, has not been convicted of a crime, not under indictment, not a fugitive or a drug addict. If city or state requires it, the purchaser is to include the fact that he has a permit.

Catalogs
If the magazine advertisements are not conducive enough to purchase a gun, the reader can buy a 96 page catalog from the firm for 25 cents to cover the mailing. The catalog, it is said in the magazine advertisement, has "thousands of guns" shown.

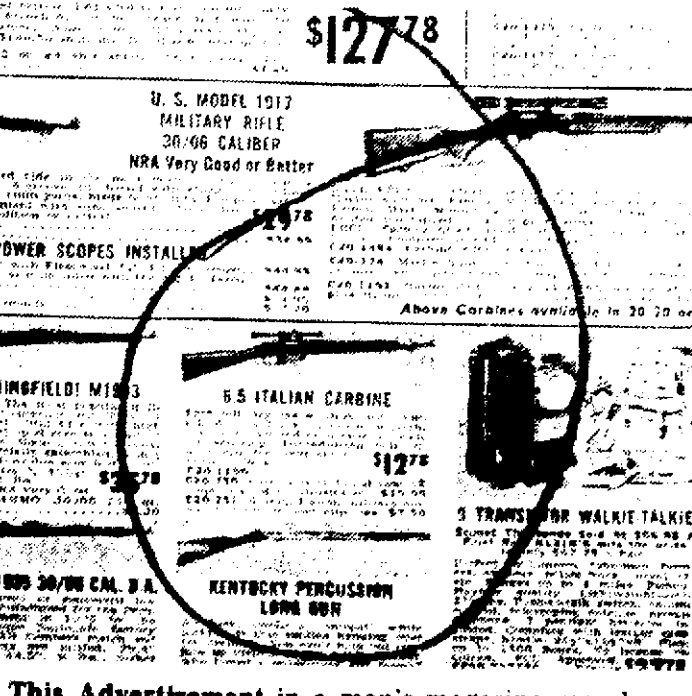

It is not known, of course, which method of payment Osmundsen is seeking. Turn to Page 3, Col. 5

Kaukauna Firm Adds Support to Farmer Program
KAUKAUNA — John R. Man, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced Tuesday the Kaukauna City L.P. Gas Service has joined the organization as co-sponsor of the Outstanding Young Farmer program for the year.

Burt McIntyre, project chairman, said "We are grateful to Leo Driessen and his firm for helping to make this project possible. This is our first local program and we are hopeful that it will become an annual project." The program honors young farmers in the area between 21 and 35 years of age who have made the most farm progress, greatest contribution to conservation and given unselfishly to the betterment of their community.

Gas Firm Manager
Driessen, manager of the gas firm, stated, "We are pleased to be associated with the Jaycees in this public service farm program. We only hope that our contribution will help bring greater recognition to the deserving young farmers of our community who are contributing so much to farming."

The local winner will be entered in state competition at Appleton Feb. 15. The winner at Appleton will receive an all-expense paid trip to Madison for the finals in national competition. To date 16 local entries have been received and the committee hopes to have from 50 to 75 entries, according to Robert Franz, OYF publicity chairman.

This Advertisement in a man's magazine may have caught the eye of Lee H. Oswald, 24, alleged slayer of President Kennedy. The FBI has revealed that Oswald bought the gun from a Chicago gun mail order house sometime last March. Price of the gun, without scope, is $12.78. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Words often misused: When using the abbreviations "A.D." and "B.C." in dates it is important to remember that "A.D." is always used before the year, and "B.C." after the year. "A.D. 1963," and "250 B.C."

Often mispronounced: Extricable. Accent is on first syllable, not the second.

Often misspelled: The plural of "goose" (the fowl) is "geese." The plural of "goose" (the tailor's smoothing iron) is "gooses."

Synonyms: Superiority, excellence, preeminence, worth, value, greatness, loftiness.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: Anomaly, deviation from the common rule, irregularity. (Pronounce a-naw-m-a-li, accent second syllable). "An occasional anomaly makes life more interesting."

Parking Ramps Won't Be Lovers' Lanes

Appleton Will Dim Lower Level Lights To Save Electrical Bills, Committee Told

Appleton's two municipal parking structures are lovers' lanes? Absolutely not, said the common council's public safety committee Monday night.

The question had been raised by some of its members. To save money, aldermen recommended the lights be dimmed

Emphasizing the structure are for parking — not sparking — the committee said the reduction in candle power would still provide adequate lighting inside the ramps during the night and the early hours of the morning.

"Are we trying to start a lovers' lane in these parking ramps?" questioned Ald. Robert Stumpf (9th) when the recommendation was first made to cut down on the number of lights used during the late hours.

Acting City Electrician Joseph Schoenhaar had recommended that automatic light dimmers be installed at the East and West ramps. He said the city's light bill could be cut down considerably if the number of lights of the Appleton firm, said operations will terminate in Appleton about Nov. 1, 1964. He said the firm's decision to relocate in Illinois rather than build a new plant in Appleton is "entirely one of economics."

2 Accidents in Calumet County

No Injuries Reported In Mishap; $875 Estimated Damages

CHILTON — Total damages were estimated at $875 in two accidents reported to Calumet County police early this week.

A car driven by Donald J. Brown, 21, route 1, Menasha, went off the highway at the Y intersection of State 55 and 114 one mile south of Sherwood at 1:15 Monday.

The Brown vehicle went out of control after hitting some loose gravel and skidded over 200 feet striking highway curbing and markers before coming to a stop, police said. Damage to the car was estimated at $700. Brown escaped injury.

A two car collision at 10:55 a.m. Tuesday one mile south of Chilton on Calumet County Trunk G involving cars driven by Vincent J. Otteman, 42, Kiel, and Leslie E. Kernan, 43, Sheboygan, resulted in $175 damages.

Police said the collision occurred when the northbound Otteman car passed another vehicle and struck the southbound Kernan auto. Otteman said he did not see the oncoming auto until it was too late to avoid the accident. Kernan said that he attempted to avoid the accident by going into the ditch, according to police.

4 Valley Firms Belong To Industry Reporting Rising Shipment Trend

Four Fox Valley members of the Gray Iron Founders' Society, Inc. are included in a report which shows iron castings shipments by Milwaukee area foundries up for October. The increase was to 90 per cent of ideal capacity, as compared to 92 per cent for 170 gray and ductile iron foundries in the United States and Canada.

The four society members are Giddings & Lewis Machine Tool Co., Fond du Lac and Kaukauna; Neenah Foundry Co., Neenah; Universal Foundry Co., Oshkosh, and Waupaca Foundry Inc., Waupaca.

Ideal capacity is the level at which a foundry produces and ships castings most efficiently. The current report continues the earlier 1963 pattern which indicates that 1963 could become the industry's best year since 1957.

Mail Order Rifles Can be Bought Easily

wald may have used to buy his gun, but he was offered three payment plans. He could send along cash, including $150 for postage and mailing, collect-on-delivery, or through a credit plan which requires no down payment. To establish credit, the firm asks that the purchaser send names and addresses of employer or two or more firms where credit is already established. Also regular biographical data (age, occupation, salary and number of dependents).

If credit is established, the purchaser can get by with paying as little as $5 per month for all his purchases.

Sale of weapons through the mails is not against any state or federal laws, but federal legislation is pending which would require that gun purchasers file an affidavit of moral character.

This legislation is in force in the State of Texas where the President was killed Friday, but authorities said the law has been "winked at" so often that it is practically non-existent.

Common Cartridge

Mail order houses received most of their merchandise when the NATO nations switched to a common sized cartridge for small arms several years ago. The old weapons were sold to American gun dealers for cheap resale. The Italian rifle used to kill the President was one of many kinds sold in this country.

There have been a number of efforts in Congress to halt the "dumping" of these surplus arms.

There are no prohibitions in this country on the purchasing and owning of rifles and shotguns except in some states which restrict persons convicted of felonies. In most states, firearms that can be easily concealed—pistols for example—are regulated by licensing. But rifles are free of such regulations.

Federal firearm laws cover machine guns, concealable weapons, cutdown rifles and shotguns and explosives, plus the mailing of concealable guns. But ordinary rifles and shotguns are not affected.

In Dallas, an ordinance which made it unlawful to have in one's possession within the city or on any property owned by the city "any firearms, rifle, revolver, pistol or any other weapon" was declared unconstitutional 14 months ago in a court case.

Bridge-Expressway System Accepted by Valley Planners

Proposal Includes 2 Lake Bridges, Thoroughfare in Menasha Town

BY GERALD W. ODOM
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — The executive committee of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission has officially accepted plans for a thoroughfare system, including a bridge across Little Lake Butte des Morts at Menasha and a second at Appleton, which would be located in the Town of Menasha.

The thoroughfare system, designed by the technical advisory group of the commission, must almost certainly be included in any venture by the State Highway Commission before a bridge will be built across the lake at Menasha.

Leroy Empey, chief engineer at Green Bay for the highway commission, said last week the bridge must have accessways before it can be constructed.

City Maps
Mayor John Klein late last week said he will seek to have the thoroughfare plans included on the official city maps.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell of Appleton Tuesday said action will be taken to include any part of commission planning, which is necessary to completing the overall road system in the City of Appleton. That city was the first to take action in adopting plans of the commission for a thoroughfare system in the valley.

Gene Franchetti of the planning commission said action will be taken immediately to get the plans on the official city maps of local municipalities.

MEDICAL QUACKS STILL PREY ON WALLETS OF GULLIBLE

DEAR CY:
My sister has been ailing for some time and has spent money like water on cures. Last week, she came over for coffee with a story of how some doctor expressed interest in making her well. Upon going to his office, she was shown hand written letters from former patients who felt he had cured them. She was all set to rent a machine from him for home treatments until she got the price. Even with her spending habits, it was too much. She decided to ask me, and I am asking you. This man sounds like a quack, although I understand quackery is under control.

SISTER'S SISTER
The lid is far from bolted down on medical quackery. That's one reason Washington, D. C., hosted the Congress on Medical Quackery on the 25th and 26th of October. From this joint meeting of the American Medical Association and the Federal Drug Administration, Americans are expected to receive explosive information on how sincerely medical quacks have set to preying on the public's gullibility and pocketbook. Quacks can usually be spotted when they solicit business, offer gimmicks for rent or for sale, or show proof positive of how they cured patients. Another danger signal can be requested for advance payment. Your sister should check out this charlatan through her local medical society. She can also write Oliver Field, head of the American Medical Association's Department of Investigation (535 North Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.) who may have a file on the shortcomings and goings of this "doctor."

DEAR CY:
Our Laurie is only 14 years old but draws beautiful dress designs. She is seriously interested in making commercial art her career, particularly dress and women's apparel designing. Can you direct us to a school that gives lessons in this through the mail? Any key to dress designing?

W. J. FENN
Successful apparel designers tell me the major stumbling block for beginners is ignorance of what can (and cannot) be done with fabrics of different weights, textures, and widths, in covering the female form. A gorgeous two dimensional design on paper may be chiseled on a gunny sack on an active, three dimensional body. Maybe it can't be contrived by a pattern-maker at all. Basic training will be in making her own, and others', clothes, and experience with a good dressmaker would be helpful. Let her concentrate on completing high school and excelling in art there. Perhaps, she can land an art scholarship. These home study schools, however, will be more than eager to give you information on their courses: Lifetime Career Schools (11826 San Vicente Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif.); National School of Dress Design

Coffin Kept Closed For 'Obvious' Reasons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today the reason the late President Kennedy's coffin remained closed at all times "should be obvious."

Kennedy was shot in the head and neck by an assassin at Dallas on Friday. The head wound was described as a gaping one.

In addition, doctors at the Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital made a post mortem examination of Kennedy's wounds — a procedure that presumably required incisions.

This, it was learned, revealed that Kennedy definitely was struck by two bullets.

Malcolm Kilduff, assistant White House press secretary, was asked why the coffin had been closed.

"I think the reasons for that should be obvious," he replied.

Johnsons to Spend Holiday at Home

Testimony in Railroad Suit Begins Today

Rock Island Has Asked Injunction Against Merger

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago and North Western Railway was scheduled to begin testimony today in U.S. District Court in an injunction suit by the Union Pacific Railroad over its proposed merger with the Rock Island.

Tuesday the UP's final witness in the suit before Judge Julius J. Hoffman was not allowed to answer four questions about the effects of the proposed merger.

Frank Barnett, vice president and general counsel for the Union Pacific, was prevented by Judge Hoffman from answering the questions after attorneys for the North Western and a group of Rock Island stockholders opposing the UP merger objected.

Judge Hoffman accepted arguments by attorneys Samuel H. Young and Miles Seeley that the questions were improper, prejudicial and self-serving.

The suit was brought by the UP on the eve of a Rock Island stockholders meeting set for Nov. 15. The stockholders were to vote on merging with the UP but UP headed off the vote, alleging that the Chicago and North Western had used improper methods in persuading Rock Island shareholders to vote against the merger.

Judge Hoffman enjoined the counting of votes on the proposal until after hearing the injunction suit.

10-Nation Effort Insurance Plan on Dollar Stands Test

BY SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The 10-nation health insurance plan for the U.S. dollar, and other principal world currencies, stood its first real test with marked success.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York and Europe's central banks acted together and quickly to prevent any run on the dollar after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Without the agreed plan to move simultaneously into the foreign exchange markets to prevent such a run, the dollar might have been under pressure.

Surplus Dollars

This is because foreigners hold so many surplus dollars, built up in recent years as a result of big deficits in our balance of payments in international trade and monetary dealings.

These dollars, if dumped on the market for gold or other currencies, could have shaken the value of the dollar — the world's chief monetary reserve as a supplement to gold — and a mainstay of America's healthy economy.

An assassination is the kind of unsettling news on which speculators sometimes feed.

Presidential Office Has Changed in Short Time Since Kennedy Left It

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential office doesn't look at all like it did last Thursday when John F. Kennedy left it for a tragic trip to Texas.

With one exception that is, at one end there still is what you might call a reception center for distinguished visitors, with the sofas, coffee table and a rocking chair facing the fireplace.

But it isn't the rocker that Kennedy and his ailing back helped make famous. This is a new one that White House officials said Johnson brought from home.

Cocktail Table
The cocktail table in this intimate little grouping has a white marble top. The old one was walnut. The telephone now is on an end table at the end of a sofa rather than on the edge of the coffee table.

Otherwise there is little that remains to remind anyone of Kennedy. That is true partly because of some Kennedy decisions, rather than Johnson changes. A redecorating had been planned to start and finish while Kennedy was in Texas. That has been carried out. In the Kennedy days there was a light green sculptured rug on the floor, with the presidential seal. A brilliant red one has taken its place. The White House said Kennedy picked it out.

The walls have been repainted to a bone-white, lighter than before. White draperies, edged in red, and white mesh curtains hang at the windows.

Former Navy man Kennedy had models of ships and prints of naval battles around the place in profusion. His desk was an ornately carved black piece made from the timbers of a British ship.

All these are gone, along with other Kennedy knickknacks and mementos, such as the plastic-encased coconut shell on which he carved a message for help after the PT-boat he commanded in World War II was sunk by a Japanese destroyer in the Pacific.

Few Mementos
Johnson has a few mementos around on tables and bookshelves—a scroll and quill awarded him by national business publications and a plaque from the American Heart Association—for a man who suffered a heart attack in 1955.

There are pictures of his mother, wife and daughters on desks and tables and one of himself and Kennedy in color on a bookshelf.

The shelves are only partly filled with books, mostly sets of volumes of writings and papers of presidents.

Kennedy Books
There are copies of Kennedy's "Profiles in Courage" and "The Strategy of Peace," of former President Harry S. Truman's two volumes on his White House years and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe."

The biggest thing in the room was the new desk to replace the Kennedy desk that is expected to wind up at the Kennedy Memorial Library at Harvard University.

The Johnson desk is twice as big, a light mahogany, with an open kneehole and minus the "secret panel" that was the delight of Kennedy's son, John Jr.

Man Pleads Guilty to Gaming Count
MILWAUKEE — Martin H. (Marty) Wesenberg, 40, 82 Lake St., Oshkosh, pleaded guilty in a U.S. District Court Tuesday to charges of failing to buy a $50 occupational tax wagering stamp.

Wesenberg, a bartender working out of the Ace of Clubs, 109 Commerce St., Oshkosh, faces a maximum penalty of $10,000 or a year in prison or both. Judges Kenneth P. Grubb has ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

A federal grand jury indicted Wesenberg in October specifically for not obtaining the stamp for the years 1961 through 1963. Federal agents charged Wesenberg with "accepting wagers and conducting gambling pools" in Winnebago and Outagamie counties.

The indictment also said Wesenberg "aided and abetted" another Oshkosh man in gambling ventures.

The arrest was a result of a gambling crackdown by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service in the Fox River Valley area.

Johnson Pledges He'll Follow Kennedy Ideals

Kennedy did not live or die in vain. And on this Thanksgiving eve, as we gather together to ask the Lord's blessing let us unite in those familiar and cherished words: 'America, America, God shed his grace on thee and crown thy good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea.'

Johnson, the first southern president since Andrew Johnson succeeded the assassinated Abraham Lincoln, left no doubt about his commitment to the cause of civil rights.

Talked for Century
"We have talked long enough in this country about equal rights," he said. "We have talked for 100 years or more. Yes, it is time now to write the next chapter—and to write it in the books of law."

Johnson called upon the Congress to enact a civil rights bill that will help "eliminate from this nation every trace of discrimination and oppression based upon race or color."

He said there could be no greater source of strength to the nation both at home and abroad.

Touching upon foreign affairs, Johnson promised the United States "will keep its commitments from South Vietnam to West Berlin." He added:

"We will be unceasing in the search for peace; resourceful in our pursuit of areas of agreement even with those with whom we differ; and generous and loyal to those who join with us in common cause."

Prepared for Test
He said "those who test our courage will find it strong and those who seek our friendship will find it honorable."

In a general assertion of foreign policy, Johnson said:

"Let all the world know, and not misunderstand, that I dedicate this government to the unwavering support of the United Nations — to the honorable and determined execution of our commitments to our allies — to the maintenance of military strength second to none — to the defense of the strength and stability of the dollar — to the expansion of our foreign trade — to the reinforcement of our programs of mutual assistance and cooperation in Asia and Africa — and to our Alliance For Progress in this hemisphere."

Pleds for Help
Appealing for help from all Americans in carrying out his new responsibilities, Johnson said:

"An assassin's bullet has thrust upon me the awesome burden of the presidency. I am here today to say that I need your help; I cannot bear this burden alone. I need the help of all Americans."

Declaring that the nation "has experienced a profound shock," Johnson said it is a national duty of this time "to do away with uncertainty and to show that we are capable of decisive action — that from the brutal loss of our leader we will derive not weakness but strength — that we can and will act and act now."

In addition to calling for top priority action on civil rights and tax cut legislation, Johnson said action also is needed on pending education bills, the youth employment opportunities bill, the foreign aid program and the remaining appropriation bills.

War On Poverty
"We will carry on the fight against poverty and misery, ignorance and disease — in other lands and in our own," he pledged. "We will serve all of the nation, not one section or one sector, or one group, but all Americans."

Stating his own philosophy toward government fiscal policy, Johnson said that, "in particular I pledge that the expenditures of the government will be administered with the utmost thrift and frugality."

He said the federal government "will set an example of prudence and economy" and will get "a dollar's value for a dollar spent."

Unanimity Not Vital
Johnson also promised to always respect "the independence and integrity of the legislative branch" — something he said he felt "deep in the marrow of my bones" after 32 years on Capitol Hill as House member, senator and vice president.

Though Johnson called for national unity, he said this does "not depend on unanimity," adding:

"We have differences; but now, as in the past, we can derive from those differences strength, not weakness; wisdom, not despair. Both as a people and as a government we can unite upon a program which is wise, just and constructive."

From his experiences at the capitol, Johnson said he had pride and confidence in the ability of Congress to meet any crisis and to "distill from our differences strong programs of national action."

Confessed Slayer Admits 'Bungling'
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — With the testimony of a bungling killer in the record, the prosecution today neared the end of its case against T. Eugene Thompson, accused of arranging the murder of his wife.

"Bungled" was the word used by confessed slayer Dick W. C. Anderson on the stand Tuesday.

Anderson, 36-year-old salesman who agreed to kill Mrs. Carol Thompson for $3,000, told of attacking the woman in her home last March 6.

After unsuccessful attempts to drown the victim and beat her into submission, Anderson said she appealed, "Oh, God, help me!"

Thompson, his hands and body trembling, cried in a quivering voice, "God help you." His eyes caught those of the witness, then he buried his head on his arms and wept. Judge Rolf Fosseen quickly recessed the court for half an hour.

Truck Drivers Return to Jobs

Milwaukee Garbage, Rubbish Collection Strike Concluded

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Some 300 truck drivers returned to their jobs today after an eight-day walkout which tied up garbage and rubbish collection in the state's largest city.

The end came Tuesday night when the Common Council unanimously approved a resolution in which it joined several city unions in petitioning the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board for fact-finding on a disputed wage package included in Milwaukee's 1964 budget.

Morris Slavney, chairman of the WERB, accepted the petition and then adjourned a hearing which had been delayed three hours pending the council decision.

John Zinos, spokesman for Local 33 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Union, announced at the WERB hearing the drivers would return to work.

About 1,300 other city workers idled by the walk-out were called back to work today by Walter H. Tacke, deputy commissioner of public works. Tacke sent street cleaning crews to work Tuesday night.

Congress Takes One of Kennedy's Final Appeals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate heard an appeal written by John F. Kennedy not long before his assassination, and moments later did what he asked.

After hours of debate, the Senate was about to act Tuesday night on a bill which would jeopardize sale of U.S. wheat to Russia.

Appeal Read
Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield then rose and read the appeal from the late President.

"If this amendment is adopted," Kennedy had written, "it is not primarily Communists who will be damaged, but the American producer and exporter."

By a 57-35 vote the Senate then voted to table and thus kill the bill of Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-Sd., previously offered as an amendment—which would have banned use of the Export Import Bank to insure payments by Soviet and other Communist wheat buyers.

Voting to table the bill were 48 Democrats and 9 Republicans; 24 Republicans and 11 Democrats voted against tabling it.

The Kennedy letter was unsigned but his name was typed at the bottom on White House stationery.

Senators Split on Red Trade Curb Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wisconsin's Democratic senators voted on opposite sides Tuesday as the Senate tabled and thus killed a bill which sought to ban the use of government agency credit to finance any trade with Communist nations.

The Rev. William Holmes, pastor of the Northaven Methodist church, made the statement Tuesday night on CBS' Walter Cronkite program.

Sgt. W. A. Johnson said subsequent threats against the minister caused police to station two patrolmen at the Holmes residence.

A public school teacher, Miss Joanna Morgan, 22, also said some of her junior high school pupils applauded the news that Kennedy had been shot on a Dallas street.

Radio stations here quoted other teachers as denying there had been any such demonstration. Miss Morgan then said she was speaking not to criticize her

Railroad Dispute in New Phase After Arbitration Ruling

2 Unions Announce Court Challenge of Decision

BY NEIL GILBRIDE — The lack of progress in the talks, which cover such matters as long strike-threatened railroad wages, dispute rolled toward the courts today and a new legal tangle over an arbitration ruling permitting the elimination of thousands of firemen's jobs.

The ruling handed down Tuesday by a special panel, was ordered by Congress to forestall a nationwide strike last August and settle the key issues in the union-railroad struggle over work rules.

Two of the unions announced they will challenge the arbitration decision and its legal basis in the courts.

Thus a new snarl appeared to be added to the four-year dispute, and negotiations on what Congress figured were secondary also have bogged down. Each side blamed the other for

2 Major Issues
The arbitration board had two issues to deal with—the firemen's jobs and the size of train crews.

It ruled that the carriers can gradually eliminate as unnecessary 90 per cent of the firemen on diesel freight and yard engines—about 30,000 jobs.

The train crew issue was turned back to the parties for further negotiations. The board, however, provided machinery for binding decisions on a local basis, supervised by the National Mediation Board, in situations where agreements can't be reached.

Strike Threat Seen
The arbitration award, as Congress wrote the law, would be binding for two years.

But other provisions of the law expire Feb. 25 and could lead to a new strike threat if there is no agreement on other issues such as wages.

Union spokesman H. E. Gilbert said the railroads' proposal to "cut pay 33 1-3 per cent" by changing the wage structure is not a secondary issue to the unions.

Congress left wages and some proposed work rules changes to be settled by negotiations between the unions and the 195 railroads involved in the dispute.

Gilbert told J. E. Wolfe, chief railroad negotiator, he hoped Wolfe would now "get down to negotiations" to eliminate any renewal of a strike threat.

Wolfe replied that if the unions did not cooperate in the negotiations, "we will be back where we were in August with the nation disturbed."

Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and Wolfe are members of the arbitration board.

Ruby Trial for Murder May Start Within 2 Weeks

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby, who shot the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy as thousands watched on television, may go to trial on a murder charge within two weeks.

County grand jurors indicted Ruby Tuesday in the shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald, Ruby's trial is tentatively set for Dec. 9.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said he will ask the death penalty.

Defense lawyer Tom Howard 2, he was bound for the Middle of Dallas said the highly emotional Ruby had settled down somewhat since the shooting in the City Hall basement as police started to move Oswald to the county jail.

"He was much more calm than he was yesterday," Howard said. "He talked in more normal tones but he is still an excitable person when he talks normally."

Heart Attack in 1955

President Changed Habits To Assure His Full Recovery

BY JOHN BARBOUR — WASHINGTON (AP) — It isn't likely that President Johnson ever will forget that July day in 1955 as his car rolled through the Virginia countryside.

He had been working hard. As majority leader of the Senate under a Republican president, he was known as a master persuader.

Already there was talk about the Democratic nomination for president.

Now—on this Saturday, July 10, he was bound for the Middle of Dallas said the highly emotional Ruby had settled down somewhat since the shooting in the City Hall basement as police started to move Oswald to the county jail.

"He was much more calm than he was yesterday," Howard said. "He talked in more normal tones but he is still an excitable person when he talks normally."

Heart Attacks Kill 14 Hunters; 6 Die In Fatal Shootings

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Heart attacks killed 14 hunters and six died of gunfire as the death toll in the first four days of the 1963 Wisconsin deer hunting season surpassed the fatality total for all nine days of the season a year ago.

The 26 deaths so far in the 1963 hunt, which continues through Sunday, were three more than were recorded in 1962.

Matt Perala Jr., 73, of Superior, the father of State Assemblyman Reino Perala, D-Superior, died of an apparent heart attack Tuesday while hunting at the mouth of the Brule River in Douglas County.

Peter Prokaska, 73, of rural West Bend, collapsed and died of a heart attack Tuesday afternoon as he prepared to hunt alone not far from his Washington County home. His body was found 10 feet from his car, parked near a woods.

Elif Johnson, 59, of rural Muskego in Waukesha County, died Monday while hunting in the Powell area of Iron County. His body was found by a game warden called when Johnson failed to rejoin his hunting party.

Elif Johnson, 58, of rural Muskego in Waukesha County, suffered a fatal heart attack Monday while hunting with two companions in the Powell area of Iron County.

State K of C Plans Masses for Kennedy

SHEBOYGAN (AP) — The Wisconsin State Council, Knights of Columbus, will offer Gregorian Masses for the repose of the soul of President Kennedy Tuesday.

State Deputy John A. Koch announced Tuesday. The Massing Day with her two children. Perhaps the nation's mood and in homes blessed by family affection to express our gratitude for the glorious gifts of St. Francis Xavier church in God.

Senate Starts Inquiry Into Assassination

Justice Bureau Reported to be Giving Support

BY JOHN CHADWICK — WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee, reportedly in cooperation with the Justice Department, has launched an investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy.

Sources in a position to know said that the Justice Department already has begun funneling information from FBI agents to the committee, headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, told newsmen he expected public hearings next month before Congress takes a Christmas recess.

Full Inquiry Sought
Dirksen told the Senate Tuesday night that a full-scale investigation by the Judiciary Committee had been approved by Senate leaders of both parties.

The inquiry will cover not only the assassination of Kennedy last Friday as he rode in a motorcade through Dallas, but also the subsequent slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin, by Jack Ruby, a Dallas night club operator.

The court of inquiry is necessary, he said, because it is the only way short of a trial to get witnesses to testify under the threat of perjury.

U.S. Asst. Atty. Gen. Herbert John Miller Jr. said as soon as the facts in the Kennedy and Oswald slayings are assembled they will be made public.

Miller is head of the Justice Department's criminal division. The slaying of Oswald Sunday prevented a public trial to bring out the evidence collected by Dallas police in charging him with murder.

Attorneys in Kohler Case Told to Present Pre-Trial Statement

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Attorneys in the National Labor Relations Board civil contempt action against the Kohler Co. were ordered Tuesday to pre-trial statements by Dec. 15.

The NLRB charges, brought in July, allege the Kohler Co. failed to comply with a 1962 order to offer job reinstatement to workers involved in the United Auto Workers Union strike against the plumbingware firm from 1954 to 1960.

The instructions for filing the statements were issued by Edward M. Duquaine, a retired circuit court judge from De Pere, who was appointed special master in the case. Court officials said the trial probably would not start for another two months.

Expected to Emphasize Civil Rights and Tax Cut in Message to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson goes before Congress today to tell it and the Erhard and President Charles de Gaulle of France.

John F. Kennedy's foreign and domestic policies — with emphasis on civil rights and tax cut legislation.

In a televised and broadcast address to a joint session of the Senate and House two days after the slain President's burial, the new chief executive will appeal for support from all segments of the nation as he attempts an orderly transition from Kennedy's leadership to his own.

"I think continuity without confusion has got to be our passing information from Johnson's aims to 35 governors in advance of his maiden address to Congress as President, Johnson indicated to congressional leaders he will urge passage of civil rights and tax reduction bills without fixing a time limit.

Reassurance to Allies
Johnson was said by those he consulted to be resigned to the fact that Congress is likely to put off any final decision on civil rights legislation until the new year.

Truck Drivers Return to Jobs

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Some 300 truck drivers returned to their jobs today after an eight-day walkout which tied up garbage and rubbish collection in the state's largest city.

The end came Tuesday night when the Common Council unanimously approved a resolution in which it joined several city unions in petitioning the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board for fact-finding on a disputed wage package included in Milwaukee's 1964 budget.

Morris Slavney, chairman of the WERB, accepted the petition and then adjourned a hearing which had been delayed three hours pending the council decision.

John Zinos, spokesman for Local 33 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Union, announced at the WERB hearing the drivers would return to work.

About 1,300 other city workers idled by the walk-out were called back to work today by Walter H. Tacke, deputy commissioner of public works. Tacke sent street cleaning crews to work Tuesday night.

Fatally Hurt When Automobile Hits Tree
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Wisconsin's highway fatality toll for 1963 has reached 799 with the death of a young Milwaukee man. The total on this day a year ago was 860.

William Olson, 24, of Milwaukee died in a Hartford hospital Tuesday night of injuries received earlier in the day when the car in which he was riding struck a tree after leaving Highway 175 about four miles south of Slinger in Washington County.

Senators Split on Red Trade Curb Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wisconsin's Democratic senators voted on opposite sides Tuesday as the Senate tabled and thus killed a bill which sought to ban the use of government agency credit to finance any trade with Communist nations, including the proposed sale of surplus U.S. wheat. Sen. Gaylord Nelson voted for tabling. Sen. William Proxmire against.

IMP Testing Threat From Solar Flares

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — An interplanetary monitoring platform — IMP — soared through space today on a radiation-sensing mission vital to the lives of travelers to the moon.

IMP's prime assignment is to determine if satellite instruments can forecast solar flares on the sun. Flares spew torrents of radiation into interplanetary space.

As IMP shot skyward Tuesday night, another Cape Canaveral launch crew made preparations to fire the high-energy Atlas-Centaur space rocket on an orbiting development flight between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. (EST) today.

IMP is a step toward a U.S. goal of foolproof solar flare forecasting before 1968-69 when the first three-man project Apollo teams are to take off for the moon. During these years, flare activity will be at a peak, with explosions possibly occurring as frequently as every 20 minutes.

A 90-foot tall Delta rocket propelled IMP on its voyage at 9:30 p.m. Project officials reported radio data indicated the three-stage rocket performed flawlessly.

The officials said exact path of the satellite will not be known for a day or two. IMP was aimed on a course ranging from 125 to 173,000 miles high.

Thanks Amid Mourning

Gloom Cast Over Holiday Because Of Late President's Assassination

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — With heavy hearts and prayerful resolve, Americans prepare to observe Thanksgiving Day.

This year, as the Pilgrims did, we will turn again to God. We have a great deal to be thankful for—the men who fought and died for us in the hot wars and in the cold war. We should be grateful for the great men God has given us.

President Johnson has urged that the Thanksgiving proclamation issued by President Kennedy Nov. 5 be read in churches Thursday.

The proclamation said in part: "on that day let us gather in sanctuaries dedicated to worship moral service, and Lincoln, the 100th anniversary of his affection to express our gratitude for the glorious gifts of God; and let us earnestly and first time."

We have a great deal to be thankful for—the men who fought and died for us in the hot wars and in the cold war. We should be grateful for the great men God has given us."

Presidential Office Has Changed in Short Time Since Kennedy Left It

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential office doesn't look at all like it did last Thursday when John F. Kennedy left it on a tragic trip to Texas.

With one exception, that is. At one end there still is what you might call a reception center for distinguished visitors, with the sofas, coffee table and a rocking chair facing the fireplace.

But it isn't the rocking chair Kennedy and his aides back helped make famous. This is a new one that White House officials said Johnson brought from home.

Cocktail Table
The cocktail table in this intimate little grouping has a white marble top. The old one was walnut. The telephone now is on an end table at the end of a sofa rather than on the edge of the coffee table.

Otherwise there is little that remains to remind anyone of Kennedy. That is true partly because of some Kennedy decisions, rather than Johnson changes.

A redecorating had been planned to start and finish while Kennedy was in Texas. That has been carried out. In the Kennedy days there was a light green sculptured rug on the floor, with the presidential seal. A brilliant red one has taken its place. The White House said Kennedy picked it out.

doctors had called the conditions under which he could operate. Those conditions included frequent short vacations of two or three days taken throughout the year. Would he have another heart attack?

Faces Stresses
Said Dr. James C. Cain of the Mayo Clinic, a personal friend of the senator: "He does not have to have another. Because he has had one, he's not destined to have a second."

Anyone who has had a heart attack lives with the fact of it. But Johnson has picked up his vigorous life, and has met unusual stresses without apparent ill effect.

A friend agreed that while he works hard, he relaxes hard too. In the eight years since Johnson suffered his heart attack, he has led an active life.

Perhaps the reason is that any heart attack victim, being forewarned is being forearmed—and the warning is hard to forget.

Man Pleads Guilty to Gaming Count
MILWAUKEE — Martin H. Marzke, 39, 82 Lake St., Oshkosh, pleaded guilty in a U.S. District Court Tuesday to charges of failing to buy a $50 occupational tax wagering stamp.

Wesenberg, a bartender working out of the Ace of Clubs, 100 Commerce St., Oshkosh, faces a maximum penalty of $10,000 or a year in prison or both.

A federal grand jury indicted Wesenberg in October specifically for not obtaining the stamp for the years 1961 through 1963. Federal agents charged Wesenberg with "accepting wagers and conducting gambling pools" in Winnebago and Outagamie counties.

The indictment also said Wesenberg "aided and abetted" another Oshkosh man in gambling ventures.

The arrest was a result of a gambling crackdown by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service in the Fox River Valley area.

Police Probe Bomb Scare at Conway Hotel
Nine policemen made an extensive search of the Conway Hotel, 128 N. Oneida St., Monday after a switchboard operator at the hotel received a warning a bomb had been planted in the building.

Five detectives, four patrolmen and employees checked each floor of the building and could find no bomb. The call was received about 5:10 p.m.

According to police, the switchboard operator answered a telephone and said "This is the desk."

A voice replied "There is a bomb in your hotel." When the operator asked the voice to repeat the message, the voice replied, "You heard what I said."

Police said the switchboard operator described the voice as "craspy" and said the voice may have come from a person between 30 and 35 years old. She said she could hear sounds of heavy traffic and motors running.

Detectives searched each room in the hotel and the basement. There was no evacuation of guests.

A Time to Give Thanks . . .

At certain times of the year we're reminded how well off we are—as Americans. The most heartfelt thanks of all often comes from the head of the table—especially these days when being a family provider is no light responsibility. For past blessings, it is a time for gratitude. For the future, a time for high hopes and careful planning that might well include a talk with your Massachusetts Mutual man.

Galli-Curci Dead at 81

She Lived Quietly In California, A Virtual Recluse

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Coloratura soprano Amelia Galli-Curci, who got her start in opera because she was "good but not expensive" and then rose to glittering heights of world fame, is dead at 81.

The diminutive singer died Tuesday of pulmonary emphysema at her home, where she lived as a virtual recluse.

Although theatrical records assert she was born Nov. 15, 1890, her age was listed as 81 on the death certificate. A friend said she was born Nov. 18, 1892, but she gave the lesser age for stage purposes.

Mme. Galli-Curci had lived quietly in southern California since 1948, when she and her late husband, Homer Samuel, built a home in Rancho Santa Fe. He died in 1956 and she moved to La Jolla last year. She has no immediate survivors.

She appeared with the Chicago Opera Co. from 1916 to 1924, when she joined New York's Metropolitan Opera until her farewell appearance as Tosca in Rossini's "The Barber of Seville" on Jan. 24, 1930.

She then made concert tours until her voice was affected by a throat ailment in 1934. On Nov. 24, 1936, she attempted a comeback as Mimì in Puccini's "La Bohème," 15 months after a major operation, but it was too late to recapture her career. Her voice soon she retired permanently.

The commission issued the permit required under law on condition that the subsequent development is managed in a manner that will protect Lake Winneconne from pollution. The waterway to be built must also be available for public navigation use, the commission specified.

Congress Takes One of Kennedy's Final Appeals
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate heard an appeal written by John F. Kennedy not long before his assassination, and moments later did what he asked.

After hours of debate, the Senate was about to act Tuesday night on a bill which would jeopardize sale of U.S. wheat to Russia.

Appeal Read
Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield then rose and read the appeal from the late President.

"If this amendment is adopted," Kennedy had written, "it is not primarily Communists who will be damaged, but the American producer and exporter."

By a 57-35 vote the Senate then voted to table and thus kill the bill of Sen. Karl E. Mundt, D-Sd., previously offered as an amendment—which would have banned use of the Export-Import Bank to insure payments by Soviet and other communist wheat buyers.

Bill Tabled
Voting to table the bill were 48 Democrats and 9 Republicans; 24 Republicans and 11 Democrats voted against tabling it.

The Kennedy letter was unsigned but his name was typed at the bottom on White House stationery.

Rural Growth in Waupaca County Surpasses Cities

More New Building Going on in Villages and Townships

WAUPACA — There apparently is more new building going on in the villages and townships of Waupaca County than there is in the cities, according to the 1963 statistical report on property valuations by the Department of Taxation's supervisor of assessments.

The difference is noted in the percentage of the whole which shows increases for both townships and villages and decreases for the city.

The Wausau office of the state assessor claimed Waupaca County cities represented 51.017 per cent of the county's $139,558,855 valuation in 1962. This year, however, the cities' portion of the whole value is 49.731,

Chilton Seeks Replacement For Police Chief

Harry Thompson to Retire in 1964; Applicants Reviewed

CHILTON—The City of Chilton is seeking a replacement for Police Chief Harry Thompson, who is scheduled to retire early in 1964.

Advertisements calling for applications from candidates for the post began appearing in area daily and weekly papers this week. The council has set a Dec. 15 deadline for the applications. A review of candidates' qualifications is expected shortly.

Under the city's governmental structure, the entire council serves as police and fire commission but the mayor holds the power to appoint Thompson's successor.

No Resignation

Thompson has not submitted his formal resignation to date, but said Tuesday he plans to make an announcement to the council soon. He will be 65 in January and, according to statistics, would be permitted to retire in the capacity of police chief for the remainder of the quarter in which his birthday falls, setting the mandatory retirement date at April 1.

However, Thompson said Tuesday, when he submits his retirement announcement, he will ask that it become effective Feb. 1. If a successor has not been picked at the time or if an emergency arises, he said he will stay on as long as necessary.

Thompson is a veteran police officer with experience in Kenosha and Calumet county sheriff's departments before joining the Chilton police force in 1941.

He was promoted to sergeant in 1944 and became chief in July, 1961, when Norman Pfeiffer retired from the post.

Street Director

The council also is seeking applicants for the newly-created post of city public works director. This position will be active next year. The public works director will be responsible for the direction of the water, sewer and street departments. Currently the city has a utilities superintendent in charge of the water and sewer departments and a street commissioner.

Giving rise to the revision of departmental supervision is the forthcoming retirement of Supt. Del Roll.

Shiocton High Lists December Art Hanging

SHIOCTON — The high school art department is presenting during December an exhibition featuring Gibson Byrd's paintings and drawings.

Byrd has exhibited in many parts of the country. Following teaching in public schools of Tulsa, he was at the University of Michigan Extension and spent three years as a director of the Kalamazoo Art Center. He joined the staff of the University of Wisconsin where he is associate professor of art and art education.

Byrd uses the figure for his main purpose. In Byrd's oil painting, his background is a series of strokes that merge or help define the figure and important areas of interest. Color also plays an important role in each of his paintings.

Each of his characters seem to be concerned with themselves only, and yet, be aware of one else was near. A special feature of this exhibit shows each year the fund becomes Byrd's fight scenes. He would more go to boxing matches and draw some quick, abbreviated sketches. From this he created his paintings.

which is a decrease of 1.286 per cent of the county's whole value of $145,935,650.

Net Increase

The county's net increase in valuation is $6,276,795 over 1962.

According to the percentages of the whole, the townships showed the biggest increase. The 22 townships represented 43.909 per cent of the valuation of the county in 1962 and increased 1.180 to 45.089 this year. This in terms of money, is an increase from $81,279,070 in 1962 to $85,756,050 in 1963, an increase in equalized valuation of $4,476,980.

The village showed a ratio increase of .106 from 5.074 in 1962 to 5.180 in 1962. In value, this is an increase of $471,675 from $7,081,270 in 1962 to $7,552,945 in 1963.

The Value of the Six Cities climbed $1,323,135 from $71,198,515 to $72,521,650 in 1963.

New Real Estate

State assessors claim the total increase in new real estate construction over last year amounts to $1,522,900. Personal property valuations increased $92,495, indicating there has been little change in the amounts of merchants' and manufacturing assessable stock between the two years.

Clintonville's equalized valuation (combined real estate and personal property) decreased $587,570 in 1963 from $24,891,860 in 1962 to $24,304,290 in 1963. This decrease means Clintonville residents will pay 1.170 per cent less in county taxes than they paid this year.

Clintonville's share of the county tax levy was 17.836 in 1963 and it will be 16.666 per cent in 1964.

The Town of Dayton showed the biggest increase in valuation in 1963. The township's valuation this year is set at $5,076,475 which is $876,905 more than the 1962 value of $4,199,570. Dayton includes a portion of the Chain O'Lakes and has the second highest valuation in the townships' division.

Highest Value

The Town of Farmington still is the highest valued township in the county and it also includes the unincorporated village of King and the other portion of the Chain O'Lakes.

Farmington's valuation is set at $7,754,795 in 1963 compared with $7,247,055 in 1962, an increase of $507,740.

Most of the other townships in the county had valuations lifted about $200,000. The Town being picked at the time or if an emergency arises, he said he will stay on as long as necessary.

The smallest increase in valuation was the $70 increase at Ogdensburg. The equalized valuation was $348,770 in 1962.

Fowl Talk, Deer Turkey and Wildlife Are Popular Topics During Thanksgiving Time

BY STERLING SORESENSEN

The Fowl and Fauna move to the forefront of table and tavern talk with the coming of Turkey Day '63 and the opening of fall's deer hunt.

There's turkey truths and deer discourse on tongue tips as hunters take to woods, fields and lowlands stalking the state's largest deer herd since 1958.

Conservation authorities tally the deer population at more than 400,000.

About the same number of turkeys will be served statewide in the annual feasts of thanks. Unlike the deer, the gobblers of the holiday's piece of resistance are domesticated.

Wild toms, called bustards in some early explorer's accounts, were once common in southwestern Wisconsin and middle Iowa. It appears the wild turkey all but vanished — retreating southerly — before or soon after the beginning of the 19th century.

Rare Bird

Eye-witnesses to an occasional rare bird crop up now and again. A small flock is known to live in the Sand Hill Crane Wildlife refuge near Babcock. This fact, along with the tales of oldsters testify the Melospiza palmarum silvestris was once indigenous and now extremely rare.

To put it another way, they're as scarce as turkey teeth.

The wild bird may be distinguished from the more common domestic fowl chiefly by the chestnut instead of white tips to the upper tail coverts and tail.

The "gobbler" of the males is alike.

When Jean Nicolet, the French explorer, landed on the shores of Green Bay in the summer of 1634, he found a land of forest wilderness inhabited by a few thousand Indians and much wildlife.

If you're interested in the Badger state's big game of yesteryears, here's a partial list of wildlife once more or less common, with the year of the last reported kill of the species:

Marlen, Douglas County, 1925; fisher, 1932; Wolverine, 1932; elk, 1868; woodland caribou, 1849; buffalo, Trempealeau county, 1832;

Moose, 1908; passenger pigeon, Wood county, 1830; wild turkey, Grant County, 1872, and lynx, 1954.

If all this boisters your status of wildlife authority—they come from recognized authorities—here's additional deer tidbits and double-sure data:

• The deer breeding season takes place in the fall, reaching a peak sometime during Nov. 10-29. Conception is followed by a gestation period of about 196 days.

• White tails undergo two complete pelage changes yearly. The "gray" winter coat is shed

Language Lab Completed at Chilton High

Equipment Will Go Into Use for First Time Next Monday

CHILTON — A new foreign language laboratory will be put into use for the first time Monday in Chilton High School.

The laboratory is being installed in a remodeled classroom at the school. It will be used in the instruction of French I and II by Mrs. Jeannett Eichhorst.

Included in the modern teacher-aid are 15 student booths and the teacher control console and monitor unit. Carrying out the installation work is the Koss Educational Sounds Co., Milwaukee.

Five of the student booths are equipped with recording equipment enabling the student to listen to the foreign language phrase, reply to it and record the reply for replay and correction work. The other 10 booths, 11 units are "listen and reply" booths.

Add Equipment

The system purchased has a modular plan feature which will enable the school to add the recording equipment to those movements of 12 miles found among animals transplanted from home yards.

Every adult deer seems to have a highly specific, localized home range to which it returns each winter. Deer appear to have an affinity for a relative of small home ranges; but this doesn't deter movement when the habitat conditions are detrimental.

• A doe may bear a single fawn, twins or triplets. Quadruplets are rare.

• When and where available, here's the favored natural food supplies of Wisconsin white tails:

— Leaves and tips of aspen, poplar, basswood, black cherry, choke cherry, hemlock, white cedar, balsam, alder, alfalfa, buckwheat, corn, elderberry, hazelnut, wintergreen and spruce.

• Statewide averages for dressed weight of deer is 108 pounds for bucks; for the central Wisconsin area, the average dressed weight is 97.7 for bucks; 94.2 pounds for does.

Bucks shot in this region average instruction at the school, aged an all-over weight of 100.8 pounds.

Deer Data

There's a lot of additional deer data if you're on a facts kick. For example:

The general dividing line between the northern deer range is the hardwood-evergreen forest lands as against the southern range of oak-maple woods, interspersed with prairie openings.

Early records indicate that deer were not abundant in the north prior to the advent of logging, fire and settlement. Today, for central Garage, Potter, however, the tables are changed, 30 years and for Hingess Ga. with the heaviest populations in range, Chilton, for the last several years.

Survivors include the widow, one son and a brother.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the Pfeffer Funeral Home with burial in Hillside Cemetery.

Rifle, Like One Used to Kill
President, Available by Mail

Chicago Firm Guarantees Money
Back if Buyer Isn't Satisfied

BY RAY PY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A mail order firm in Chicago which has been selling guns since 1885 promised Lee H. Oswald, convicted assassin of President John F. Kennedy, "100 per cent satisfaction or your money back" with the weapon he purchased from that firm in March.

Last Friday Oswald is believed to have fired the weapon three times, fatally wounding the President and wounding the governor of Texas.

Price: $12.78

Police and FBI officials believe that Oswald purchased the small, 7-pound Italian Army rifle for $12.78. For a price of $19.50, he may have received the rifle gun, but he was offered three already equipped with a 4-power Japanese scope. The purchase included one free clip of ammunition and he could purchase more at $7.50 per 100.

An advertisement found in the magazine, boasted that the over-all length of the weapon is "only 40 inches, was tested and ready for shooting."

Oswald, it is believed, disguised the small weapon in a brown piece of paper and told friends and police he was carrying a "window blind" into Dallas, Tex., from where the bullets were fired.

It is believed the Federal Bureau of Investigation knows of the mail order firm's name. A pharmacist in Dayton, Ohio, told the Associated Press he informed the FBI that a magazine he carried in his store advertised the exact weapon used in the assassination.

Pistols

Available to readers at "no money down and up to 10 months to pay" are various handguns including a .38 calibre Smith and Wesson revolver which also may have been purchased by Oswald and used to kill a Dallas policeman. Price of the pistol is $32.78. The firm also advertises that the barrel of the pistol can be shortened to three inches for $2.10 more.

Also available to purchasers is a U.S. M-1 30 calibre carbine ($78) and a U.S. Garand rifle ($78). A deluxe high power carbine with scope and sling is available for $71.

For "collectors" are small derringers from $16 to $29, a Buellhard of Chippewa County falo scout pistol ($28) and a Navy Colt revolver ($47).

Postal authorities have indicated that federal laws which do not permit mailing of concealable weapons (pistol) Court today had the effect of setting aside the injunction until a conclusion is reached by the commission in a public hearing.

The action of the Supreme Court today had the effect of setting aside the injunction until a conclusion is reached by the commission in a public hearing.

Person who buys a weapon send

Common Cartridge

Mail order houses received most of their merchandise when he is over 21 years, not an alien, the NATO nations switched to a common sized cartridge for small arm several years ago. The old weapons were sold to American gun dealers for cheap resale. The Italian rifle used to kill the President was one of many kinds sold in this country.

There have been a number of efforts in Congress to halt the dumping of these surplus arms.

There are no prohibitions in this country on the purchasing and owning of rifles and shotguns, except in some states which restrict persons convicted of felonies. In most states, firearms that can be easily concealed, such as pistols, are regulated by licensing. But rifles are free of such regulations.

Federal firearms laws cover machine guns, concealable weapons, cutdown rifles and shotguns and explosives, plus the mailing of concealable guns. But ordinary rifles and shotguns are not affected.

In Dallas, an ordinance which made it unlawful to have in one's possession within the city or on any property owned by the city "any firearms, rifle, revolver, pistol or any other weapon" was declared unconstitutional 11 months ago in a court case.

Venison or Trespassing?

Little Chute Hunter
Bags 'Expensive' Buck

WAUPACA — "It's the principle of the thing," Leroy H. Kuse, 31, 930 E. Lincoln St., Little Chute, said Tuesday morning after he paid a fine of $50 to Municipal Justice George Whalen after pleading guilty to trespassing.

Kuse learned there is more involved in getting a deer than just shooting it.

He related the following story to the Post-Crescent reporter Tuesday morning after he paid his fine, claimed his deer and was getting ready to return to his Little Chute home.

"I was walking through the marsh in the Town of Caledonia Sunday noon. I was alone when I saw a buck going through the woods and heard five shots. Later I saw another deer and heard two shots.

"I shot at the deer and it stopped. I figured I hit it but it ran into the willows. I followed it and found it with its horns tangled in the brush and fired another shot to finish it off.

"About eight or 10 hunters came and said it was their deer and I was trespassing. They said if I left the deer there, nothing would be done.

"I wanted the deer and told them to get a game warden. When no game warden was found, Sgt. Lyle McCully, a county policeman came. He took the deer and told me it would be taken to Waupaca.

Kuse explained that he had talked to an Appleton attorney and was advised to plead guilty to trespass rather than get involved in a long court case.

DA Decides

When asked about the disposition of the deer, Kuse said its ownership was decided by the Waupaca district attorney.

Insurance Plan on Dollar Stands Test

BY SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The 10-nation health insurance plan for the U. S. dollar, and other principal world currencies, stood its first real test with marked success.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York and Europe's central banks acted together and quickly to prevent any run on the dollar after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Without the agreed plan to move simultaneously into the foreign exchange markets to prevent such a run, the dollar might have been under pressure.

Surplus Dollars
This is because foreigners hold so many surplus dollars, built up in recent years as a result of big deficits in our balance of payments in international trade and monetary dealings.

These dollars, if dumped on the market for gold or other currencies, could have shaken the value of the dollar — the world's chief monetary reserve as a supplement to gold — and a mainstay of America's healthy economy.

An assassination is the kind of unsettling news on which speculators sometimes feed.

10-Nation Pact
The 10-nation pact to guard against speculative runs followed the October 1960 gold dollar. Any flight from the rush which shook the dollar. The price of gold was run up to $40 an ounce on London's free market, compared to the official U.S. Treasury price of $35.

MEDICAL QUACKS STILL PREY ON WALLETS OF GULLIBLE

DEAR CY:
My sister has been ailing for some time and has spent money like water on cures. Last week, she came over for coffee with a story of how some doctor expressed interest in making her well. Upon going to his office, she was shown hand written letters from former patients who felt he had cured them. She was all set to rent a machine until she got the price. Even though I understand quackery is under control.

(835 Diversey Parkway, Chicago); and the Academy of Millinery Design (Little Falls, N.J.).

DEAR CY:
I have a sneaking suspicion my sister left some money, bonds, or securities when she died in another state. She ran her own business and I have often heard she was successful. How can I contact a reliable lawyer out there to probe into this?

CARRIE B.

SISTER'S SISTER
The lid is far from bolted down on medical quackery. That's one reason Washington, D. C., hosted the Congress on Medical Quackery on the 25th and 26th of October. From this joint meeting of the American Medical Association and the Federal Drug Administration, Americans are expected to receive explosive information on how sincerely medical quacks have set to preying on the public's gullibility and pocketbook. Quacks can usually be spotted when they solicit business, offer gimmicks for rent or for sale, or show proof positive of how they cured patients. Another danger signal can be request for advance payment. Your sister should check out this charlatan through her local medical society. She can also write Oliver Field, head of the American Medical Association's Department of Investigation (535 North Dearborn St.), Chicago. He may have a file on the shortcomings and goings of this "doctor."

DEAR CY:
Our Laurie is only 14 years old but draws beautiful dress designs. She is seriously interested in making commercial, and her career, particularly dress and women's apparel designing. Can you direct us to a school that gives lessons in this through the mail? Any key to dress designing?

W. J. FENN

DEAR W. J.:
Successful apparel designers tell me the major stumbling block for beginners is ignorance of what can (and cannot) be done with fabrics of different weights, textures, and widths, in covering the female form. A gorgeous two dimensional design on paper may be chic as a gunny sack on an active, three dimensional body. Maybe it can't be contrived by a patternmaker at all. Basic training will be in making her own, and others', clothes, and experience with a good dressmaker would be helpful. Let her concentrate on completing high school and excelling in art there. Perhaps she can land an art scholarship. These home study schools, however, will be more than eager to give you information on their courses: Lifetime Career Schools (11826 San Vicente Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif.); National School of Dress Design,

Stockbridge Tips Shiocton

Gerry Mayer, Daun Pace
Non-Loop Win

SHIOCTON — The Stockbridge Indians got the better of a ragged, foul - filled basketball game here Tuesday night as they took a 12-5 first period lead and never trailed thereafter, enroute to a 54-44 non-conference victory over Shiocton.

Both teams utilized a pressing defense throughout and the result was like a carry-over from the football season as they "scrimmaged" their way to a grand total of 50 fouls.

Gerry Mayer and Gary Daun provided the brunt of the Indians' scoring attack with 17 and 10 points, respectively.

Gene Peters, with 15, and Larry Lemere, with 11 sparked the losers.

Bowler Quint Wins Over Bear Creek

BEAR CREEK — A 37-point barrage and the superior rebounding strength of 6-4 Steve Fuhrman proved too much for Bear Creek of the Little Nine Conference as Bowler captured a 71-60 non-conference victory here Tuesday night.

Bear Creek managed to pull even at 53-41 midway through the final period, but two tip-in buckets by Fuhrman put Bowler in front to stay.

Darrell Zieske was the mainstay in the Creekers' offense as he clicked for 30 points. Mike Flanagan chipped in with 18 for Bear Creek.

Next!

There is another area of the world that may be destined to become a hot spot in world conflicts. Somalia is rattling its few swords and demanding more.

The small country became independent in 1960 after several years under a United Nations trusteeship. There are about 2 million people living in Somali which is now trying to build up its army to 20,000. Because the United States has been slow, according to Somali spokesmen, in providing military aid, the country is accepting such aid from the Soviet Union.

Dr. Ahmed Mohammed Darman, counselor of the Somali mission to the United Nations, shrugs off warnings that the acceptance of such aid is likely to influence Somali along Communist lines. But his reasoning for the need of a larger army is even more amazing than something the Reds could think up.

Halting Step Toward County Board Reform

After four years of frustration, the state legislature has finally passed a bill authorizing counties to employ a county administrator. It is the so-called Quinn Bill, which passed the assembly two years ago and again at this session, but which was held up in the senate because of the opposition of Senator O'Brien of Brown County who was chairman of the committee considering the legislation. Senator O'Brien has been quite ill recently and during his absence last week the bill was withdrawn from his committee and passed by the senate.

It is a step in the right direction, but a halting step at best.

Meanwhile the senate, this time under the leadership of our own Senator Lorge, has delayed a more important step toward modernizing county government to meet the demands being made upon it in the more populous counties.

It is ironic that the Quinn Bill, authored by an assemblyman from Brown County, was held up so long by the senator from the same county. And now the legislation to try and solve the vital question of county board representation, which originated with a civic group here in Outagamie County, has been postponed, perhaps fatally, by the senator representing this county.

The Quinn Bill authorizes the creation of the post of county administrator, but it leaves it to the option of individual county boards whether they will create such a position. If they do they may name a present county officer like the board chairman or the clerk to fill the post. Or they may appoint someone else to the post or provide for his election on a county-wide basis.

There is a question of the bill's constitutionality under the uniformity provisions of Wisconsin's constitution since it is an optional measure. And because it is optional there remains the question of whether it will be adopted by the boards of the larger counties who need it the most. County boards traditionally are loathe to give up any authority to administrators.

The Outagamie board has been an exception to this rule. Earlier this year local supervisors hired a full-time assistant to the county board chairman to perform functions similar to those prescribed for an administrator under the Quinn Bill. Presumably the Outagamie County Board may now qualify this position under the new law.

But an even more important element of county board reform is the matter of representation. Under the present system of electing supervisors by city wards, villages and townships, there is no relationship between population and representation. And in the populous counties the size of the board has grown to unwieldy and in some instances ridiculous proportions.

Legislation drafted by a civic group

There may be only 2 million Somalis living in Somali, say Dr. Darman. But there are really 10 million Somalis. The rest live in French Somaliland, the Northern Frontier District of Kenya and in eastern Ethiopia. So they need a bigger army.

This isn't all speculation either. There has been an outbreak of fighting in the Ethiopian province of Ogaden. Ethiopia called the conflict "bush warfare." Darman says it is "a war of liberation." He claims that the only Ethiopians in the province are military and that all other residents are Somalis who live there and don't merely use the province as grazing grounds for their herds.

Quite obviously this is something for these African nations to mediate. But it is also something which the Soviet Union likes to encourage.

here in Outagamie County and firmed up and approved by similar representatives of the state's eight largest counties, exclusive of Milwaukee, was introduced and pushed in the assembly by Assemblymen Froelich and Martin. It provided for a mandatory administrator in counties with over 100,000 population. And it provided that in these counties supervisors would be elected from supervisor districts set up by the county board and apportioned on an equal population basis.

This bill failed to pass the assembly, as its sponsors expected. It was intended mainly to get the subject before the legislature for serious consideration. And the support it engendered at a public hearing convinced most legislators that the time is fast arriving when something concrete has to be done about the problem.

With the support of the County Boards Association, Assemblymen Froelich and Martin then introduced a resolution calling for the appointment of a committee which was directed to draft legislation to accomplish this end in the 1965 session. The committee would include representation from the senate and assembly, the County Boards Association, the Towns Associated and the League of Municipalities.

The resolution was passed by the assembly in the closing week of the regular session by an overwhelming vote. But when it came before the senate, Senator Lorge introduced amendments which completely altered the intent and purpose of the committee. His major amendment instructed the committee to consider area as well as population in arriving at a representation formula.

When the legislature reconvened, the assembly refused to concur in the senate amendments, and the senate, again under Lorge's leadership, refused to retreat from its amendments.

The matter was referred to a conference committee with Froelich, Martin and Lorge as three of its six members. Senator Lorge drafted a compromise solution which was a watered down version of the original resolution, but the legislature adjourned before it could come up for action. It will now lie over until the April, 1964, session and conceivably could be approved at that time. But it will have lost considerable impetus at the least, and in any case the time may be too short for a recommendation to reach the 1965 legislature.

In his opposition to the assembly resolution, Senator Lorge took the position that he represents a rural constituency. This would seem difficult to justify considering the interests of the majority of voters in his district.

But that is where the matter now rests. The aspirations of the metropolitan area in this county for an equitable formula for county board representation have been thwarted, for the present at least, because its interests are not represented in the state senate.

Parents Should Consider Ideas War Toys Instill in Children

Editor, Post-Crescent:

It is Sunday, November 24. America is in deep mourning. Many of us must have wept while watching the solemn ceremonies as the late President's casket was borne to the Capitol. My heart was torn with anguish at the sight of Caroline Kennedy looking anxiously into her mother's face and reaching for her hand for reassurance.

Indeed, the martyrdom of our President has deeply stirred the conscience of America. How can this happen here, why, why...? To paraphrase the solemn front page editorial in the November 23 edition of the Post-Crescent: "The racial hatreds, the flaunting of decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court, the rantings of the radical right and the lunatic left, the riots in housing projects and schools, the bombing of churches and homes, the spewing out of hatred and appeals to violence, all were part of the progress to the hideous deed."

But there is more. At last our elected representatives in Washington are stirred to action against the ridiculous inadequacy of the laws (or lack of laws) governing the sale and purchase of firearms. Senator Dodd of Connecticut appeared on network television during this tragic weekend with a display of firearms which had been confiscated in one District of Columbia precinct, all of which were available by mail order. Lee Oswald himself sent in a worthless affidavit when he acquired his ill-fated rifle. Senator Dodd stated that a high percentage of mail order weapons are confiscated from convicted criminals which proves how worthless the required affidavits are. Sadder still, many of these deadly weapons are purchased by youths less than 16 years of age, often with tragic consequences.

However, I submit that the root of the trouble lies much deeper and more dangerously in the upbringing of our children and the casual attitude towards firearms and weapons of war instilled in them from the cradle on. Who has not seen the toddler, barely able to stand, with his gun belt and twin pistols strapped firmly into place? His first intelligible word may well be "bang!"

About two months ago I glanced from my window into a vacant area near my home and saw what at first appeared to be a troop of Army dwarfs undergoing inspection. On closer scrutiny, they were revealed as a group of children ranging in age from approximately 4 to 8 years. They were arrayed in full battle dress consisting of fatigues, steel helmets, canteens, grenades, bayonets and pistols. Some carried either a bazooka, machine gun or rifle. They were being sternly drilled by an older youth. The little ones stood quietly at attention and appeared very serious. During the next few days, their violent war games were realistically carried out and occasionally invaded my yard and caught up my own children. To my relief, my children decided of their own volition after a couple of games that this was not their idea of entertainment and the casualties no longer lay groaning outside my windows.

At the time, I was mildly shocked to think of parents wishing to outfit their young impressionable children in the accoutrements of war, thus encouraging them to think of the killing of others as a normal, approved way of life. Today, suddenly, I realize that this is probably why so many American children can't wait to own a real gun. Of course! It is adult, the quickest way to feel like a he-man! With a real weapon, the boy feels he has reached maturity though his emotions are so immature that he may fire this weapon on very slight provocation! Remember the pool room shooting in Menasha last week? He may also fire it by accident, as did an 11 year old boy recently, just outside the city limits, thereby killing his younger brother. Last Christmas, another rural Appleton boy was critically wounded when shot in the throat by his brother during childhood play with their new Christmas presents, air rifles. Perhaps some of us will remember this when we buy our Christmas gifts this year.

I am sure we could pay no greater tribute to the late John F. Kennedy, a man of peace, than to start now to instill an attitude of peace and brotherly love in the minds of our children. They will be our leaders of the future (and our future Lee Oswalds). Perhaps at first the children will complain at being denied their weapons but never fear, they'll soon discover better things to do. The toy manufacturers will very quickly switch to other products if the demand for toy weapons ceases. Most important of all, we may save some young lives and remove the war mentality with which we inflict our children before they are discriminating enough to reject it.

Let this be one small sacrifice in honor of a great man. "Peace on Earth, Good Will to All Men"

Conflict of Interest Is Real and Lasting Government Problem

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The "conflict of interest" issue which has erupted so explosively in state politics could be considered more fruitfully if the charges and counter-charges of the politicians were not so transparently inspired by the desire for partisan advantage.

At the moment the gains and losses are probably distributed about evenly. The Democrats are shouting with undisguised glee about the embarrassment of the Republicans at the disclosure that Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin profited from an investment in a Milwaukee insurance corporation for which he had done a service as a public official. There is no winking at the fact that the issue is a sorely discomfiting one for the Republicans, primarily because of the distinction and rank of the congressman as indicated so clearly by the boom on his behalf as a favorite son candidate for the presidential nomination next year.

But it could not have been pleasant either for the Democrats to contemplate the fact that their Gov. Reynolds had to fire out of hand a ranking Democratic state official in a related incident involving the Milwaukee insurance firm.

What is likely to be lost in the noisy pattern of accusations by the worried politicians is that the conflict of interest issue is a real one, a lasting one, and that it has grown with the enormous growth in the importance and power of government.

The power of government in the lives of Americans will inevitably continue to grow. The problem of potential conflict between the public responsibility of the public man and his private interest will be compounded as a consequence. There is involved here the profoundly vital issue of the integrity of government, and perhaps more important, the confidence of the people in the integrity of the government which rules their lives more directly with each passing decade.

Whatever the hopes of the voter, there is no probability that the probity or virtue of men in public office is greater — or less — than that of the average of the people they represent. Thus in the apt phrase of President Kennedy the other day when he was questioned about Washington incidents involving conflict of interests there will always be men in private and public life who cannot resist "the pressure of opportunity."

It is easy to declare a rule. Presumably everybody would subscribe to the idea that a public man should not act as a public official for his private gain. But the rule is easier to state than to apply. Consider the case of the Wisconsin Legislature, with which this reporter is fairly well acquainted after a couple of decades of close observation.

A man should not cast his vote in such a way as to feather his own nest, it may be agreed. Yet if such a rule was applied literally, dozens of legislators would be required to abstain from voting on every legislative day, so various are their private concerns, and so all-embracing is the role of government as represented in the daily calendars of bills and resolutions.

Gov. Reynolds likens public office to the chosen life of the monastery. (He is the capital abbot, in this definition.) Men who want public office must be prepared to sacrifice opportunities and rights which their neighbors have without question. But such a puritanical conception cannot have any other result than discouraging the services of legions of creative and talented persons, for the ultimate impoverishment of the public service.

The rule of reason, the normally decent instincts of men, in the end must be relied upon, an observer of public affairs is inclined to conclude.

That rule of reason is best enforced by an alert and free, and responsible press, with an attentive electorate. The genius of the political system is its final reliance upon popular referendum. It is because both of the political parties of Wisconsin are now worried about that outcome that their charges and counter-charges have become so frantic.

Ad Words Free, New Work Best in America

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A highly successful advertising man, in his recent autobiography, remarks that the two words attracting the most attention and the biggest pull in any advertisement are "Free!" and "New!"

I see no reason to doubt his statement, which is based on long and profitable experience. What interests me, however, is that these are not necessarily the most potent words for advertising in other countries and different cultures. What we think of as "human nature" is often a matter of longitude and latitude.

When a famous American gum company, for instance, advertises its chewing gum in England, the ads (which I have seen) take an entirely different tack from those in America. They appeal to British decorum, good taste, and the deeply-rooted fear of giving offense. "Refreshing" may be the word to American chewers, but "respectable" is the keynote of the British campaign.

Likewise, when an American razor company displayed its product shaving the fuzz off a peach to German consumers, it was greeted with a mixture of laughter, derision and puzzlement. The literal Germans simply never have the slightest desire to shave the fuzz off a peach.

"New" may be the operative word in American advertising, but most European nations still prefer the old, the trustworthy, the reliable, and look upon highly-touted innovations with great dubiety. They want to know whether a product will do its job well for a long time, not whether it was given birth yesterday by some feverish brain eager for fast returns.

Incidentally, the best advertising campaign in America in the last 10 years, for the Volkswagen automobile, shrewdly adapted these European standards to American needs, and indicated that even in our own country many people are less beguiled by novelty and chrome than by rugged honesty, dependability, and common sense.

I also have some lingering doubts that the puissance of the word "Free!" in so many ads. My 8-year-old boy will tear out any such coupon and send it away, and I suspect that millions like him do the same — which gives the advertiser a good statistical record, but the purchasing power of 8-year-olds is scarcely overwhelming.

On balance, however, there is no question that "Free!" and "New!" have done their work well in the recent past. As a nation, we are prone to take delight in novelty for its own sake, and we still retain a naive faith in something for nothing. But in the long run, we must ask whether these appeals to greed and curiosity do not defeat themselves.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Dick Nixon says his role is to unify the Republican party. And anybody ever unified by Nixon can testify it's something like togetherness under a 100,000-pound hydraulic press.

One psychologist urges that we make education illegal — so the kids will stay up all night studying.

Republicans are sore at Gov. Rockefeller for claiming he's the underdog candidate. This is no time, they say, to be monopolizing honors that belong to the whole party.

Teachers Stress Importance Of Art in Educational Life

Elementary Department Explains Program to Board of Education

"We believe a person who does not have proper art experiences in his educational life is educationally incomplete," Miss Monica Cooney, head of the elementary art department, told the Appleton Board of Education.

Elementary and secondary art teachers presented a report on the public school art curriculum to the board. The teachers have been working for two years on a revision of the curriculum, and are now preparing a handbook for teachers.

Speaking to the board and illustrating their talks with slides of student art work were Miss Cooney, Francis S. Conrad and Salvatore A. Tralongo, art teachers at Roosevelt Junior High School, and Harold Carlson, head of the Appleton High School art department.

Special Services
Assistant Superintendent of Schools William Spears, noted that the progress report is one of a series on special services. However, he stressed, art, music, physical education are an essential part of the curriculum.

The purpose of art in any school, kindergarten through 12th grade, is the development of aesthetic sensitivity. Miss Cooney told the board. An aesthetically sensitive individual, she said, is "one who can look inward and find something there," who uses his intellect but also relies on perception and intuition, which can be taught, who develops a feeling for the order and harmony of the universe, and who is a productive thinker.

Art can be justified in the curriculum by what it does for the child, she said. "It follows what St. Ignatius said—that education must be the training of the whole man to the excellence of all his faculties, including the finer sensibilities."

The art curriculum has a definite framework of objectives, but within these the child is free to develop naturally and according to his individual pattern, she said.

Development Stages
Art development follows certain stages, just as physical development does, Miss Cooney noted. It begins with manipulation of materials, then goes into the romantic stage when the child is not interested in reality, and finally goes into the stage of realism, she explained.

The primary school curriculum includes painting and drawing, three dimensional experiences such as sculpture, and appreciative activities, she said. Appleton has three elementary art consultants. The state requires 90 minutes per week of art work.

While showing slides of art work by elementary pupils, Miss Cooney made these observations:

—Upside-down houses on one side of a street in a child's drawing are "a child's solution to perspective."

—"A child is not interested in reality in color."

React to Experiences
—"A child should react to experiences. When a child experiences something, he should write about it, talk about it or use art materials."

—Stitchery is used throughout the grades to help develop small muscle control and skilful fingers.

—"Almost always the animals (in the children's pictures), smile."

—"As much as possible, we have the child put himself in the picture."

Conrad told the board that the junior high school gets the pupils in a period of transition, and that the art teacher can help bridge that transition.

"They come to us in seventh grade a scared bunch," he said. "They don't know how to project themselves in art. The teacher can set the mood, get them to relax and get over that period of fear and uneasiness."

Positive Approach
He stressed the positive approach used in the junior high school art program. "We get all kinds of work," he said. "Under no circumstances are sarcasm or negative teaching a part of our teaching. We find something good in the work, and then help the students to improve it."

There are six junior high school art teachers, two at each building. With the new junior high curriculum started this fall, art is required now of all seventh and eighth graders.

The six areas of art work in the junior high school, Tralongo said, are drawing and painting, graphics, commercial art, ceramics, sculpture and jewelry.

"The skills and techniques are used to stimulate their creative thinking, and not as ends in themselves," he said.

Carlson said the senior high school art program tries to develop the student's "ability to see... an attitude of awareness." Art teaching is based on the student's intellect, emotions and spiritual aspects, he said.

"A combining of these things will lead to a person who has art fused to his whole life, as an intimate part of his life."

First-Year Course
The first year art course introduces students to the means to evaluate art works, through reading and doing, he said. In second year art, students explore painting, graphics, art metal and ceramics and study art history. Third year art stresses contemporary and historical art images and problems in composition, and points out career possibilities in art.

The course in aesthetics, open to seniors only, fills a void for students who are interested in art but are not artistically talented, he said. In this course criteria for understanding creative works of art are developed, he said.

"Our objectives as art teachers," Carlson concluded, "are to make art so valuable to the students in Appleton that it will be demanded by students and parents. Then we as art teachers will have arrived at the point from which we can build stronger and more complete citizens."

Students Sell Yule Items in Fund Drives

Several Xavier High School groups are selling Christmas items to help finance various projects.

The girls' student council is selling Christmas candy and chocolates, with proceeds going into the council activity fund.

The boys' senior class is selling Christmas wrapping paper, with proceeds to help finance the senior gift to the school.

The staff of the "Prospector," Xavier's bi-weekly newspaper, are selling subscriptions as gifts to alumni or Xavier friends.

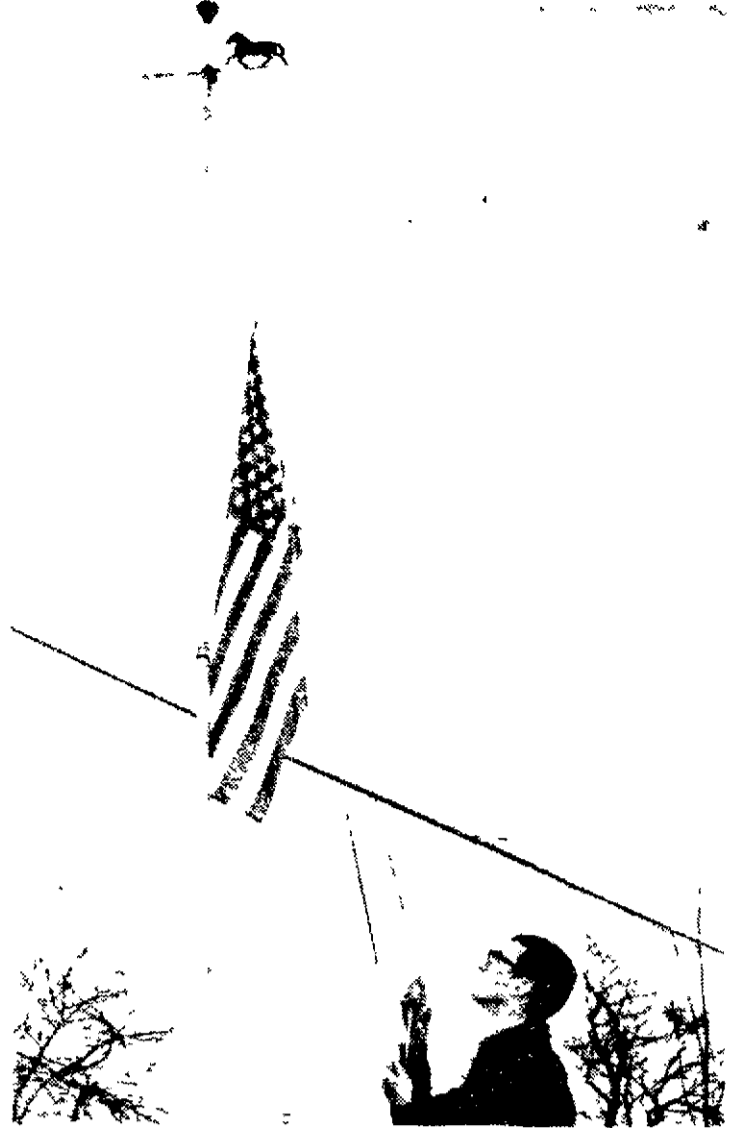

The boys' student council is planning its annual Christmas basket drive, which will collect food and toys for needy families.

Basketball League
The boys' council is making arrangements for the start of the Saturday basketball league.

Another committee of the boys' council has volunteered to undertake a cleanup program in the gymnasium after each basketball game. Edward Whulman and Steven Rechner will head this activity.

The girls' student council has started the procedure necessary to change its constitution so meetings can be held every week instead of bi-weekly. The council meetings now are held from 3 to 4 p.m. Tuesdays, and are open to all students.

The purpose of holding the meetings more often, according to council moderator Sister M. Rose Catherine, is to give more girls an opportunity to attend the meetings and to learn leadership procedures.

Navy Veterans Reserve Plan Offers Attained Rating Reinstatement

The Appleton Naval Reserve announced that a new program for returning veterans, known as "Operation Return", has been inaugurated by the Navy Department. The announcement was made by Lt. Com. Sidney M. Edinger, commanding officer of the local unit.

Under the revised program, all navy veterans, regardless of length of time since discharge, are eligible for enrollment in the Reserve at the same rate and pay status held at the time of release from active duty.

Previously, it was necessary for a veteran to re-establish his eligibility in order to participate at a previously attained rating.

Anti-Smoking Campaign Is Expected Soon

Would be Federally Sponsored, Aimed Mainly at Children

OTTAWA (AP) — A national anti-smoking campaign, spearheaded by the federal government, is expected to be launched soon.

The main target will be children and teen-agers — to warn them of health dangers of smoking before they take their first puff on a cigarette.

The first step toward a public licity and educational drive was taken over the federal portfolio, taken Monday at the opening told reporters that the decision session of a two-day National to recognize the dangers of cigarette smoking and cigarette smoking was taken over Health, sponsored by the federal government and attended by industry representatives of provincial governments, doctors, cancer specialists, tobacco growers, cigarette manufacturers and others.

2 Provinces Disagree
The federal government and eight of the 10 provinces agreed that there is a proven relationship between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

The two provinces that didn't go along with this conclusion were Quebec and Nova Scotia. Quebec was not represented by government officials.

Now—'64 Chevy II... with a V8 engine

Now you see it. Now you don't. When a Chevy II does that kind of disappearing act you know without looking twice: It's a '64 with a V8 engine.

It's available for the first time this year along with a choice of three other engines—the standard 4 (in 100-Series sedans), the standard 6 and a new 155-hp 6.* (And all of them, you'll be happy to know, maintain their high spirits on modest amounts of regular gasoline.)

You can take this V8 through the gears most any way you choose —with personal encouragement from a 4-speed shift* if you like.

CHEVROLET

But the changes that have come over this new Chevy II aren't by any means confined to what happens when you slip into the driver's seat.

There are new styling features like the tasteful grille design and trim accents, for instance. And the larger self-adjusting brakes that further reduce upkeep on a car that already has a reputation of coming about as close to perpetual motion as anything on four wheels can get.

The place to get the full details on the '64 is your Chevrolet dealer's. And after you've got them, we hope you'll attend to one further detail yourself. Drive it.

*Optional at extra cost

FVL, Chuters Will Meet Friday Night

Foxes Have Split 2 Games; St. John Seeks First Win

LITTLE CHUTE—After a 10-day layoff since the season opener, the St. John High School basketball team hopes to notch its first win of the campaign when Fox Valley Lutheran of Appleton invades the Chuter gym at 8 p.m. Friday.

Coach Bill Fitzpatrick's Dutchmen dropped a 57-41 decision to East DePere in its first game. St. John stayed with the Redbirds for three quarters but faded in the final stanza.

Fox Valley Lutheran has played two games, defeating Freedom by a decisive (78-61) margin and then losing to a strong Winneconne club, 64-51.

Lack of Height Rebounding has been the major problem for St. John, both in the East DePere game and in a game-type scrimmage against an alumni group hurtling from a lack of height, the Dutchmen seldom get a chance for a second shot as taller foes have picked off the rebounds. Fitzpatrick refuses to lay the full blame on a lack of height, however.

"Our boys have not shown the hustle and desire necessary to win games, yet. Many rebounds came off the board low

Kimberly to Defend Title

Papermakers Favored in M-E Race; Jays, Clints Strong

Kimberly, a little school that plays among the basketball giants, is the odds-on favorite to successfully defend its Mid-Eastern Conference cage title in the 1963-4 season.

Papermakers ammunition will be the return of four out of five starters and a "giant" of a junior varsity graduate in 6-7 Chuck Meyer.

Although Meyer is slated to miss the first six weeks of the season, he will team with Gordon Zilges (another 6-7 giant) to give Kimberly one of the tallest teams in the state.

Fast-Break Attack New head coach Gene Mason will use a fast-break offense, despite the presence of the big men, and plans to make good use of last year's M-E runnerup scorer Lee Levknecht (6-3). The team has five returning lettermen.

There is optimism in a number of camps as to their team's ability to challenge the Papermaker rule with Menasha and Clintonville being the most likely candidates.

Menasha returns five lettermen, including the versatile Mark Pawlowski (6-2) whom Coach Clem Massey is counting on to make his new single-post offense work.

Clintonville has seven lettermen back from last year's team that won a trip to the state tournament at Madison. The monogram winners include an effective scorer (335 last year) in Bill Melzer.

2 Other Newcomers

In addition to Mason at Kimberly, two other new coaches will be on the scene in the circuit this season. Ken Vander Velden has taken over at Kaukauna and Bill Beyer is the new face at New London.

Neenah, with the veteran coach (38th year) Ole Jorgensen at the helm, has only four

Scotti Placed On Waivers By Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles asked waivers Tuesday on defensive half-back Ben Scotti and reinstated tackle John Mellekas after fining him $500. Scotti and Mellekas were involved in a fist fight Saturday night and had been suspended without pay.

General Manager Vince McNally and Coach Nick Skorich of the National Football League club said they had reviewed all the facts before reaching their decision.

Both players are in a hospital. Scotti with a broken right hand and Mellekas with a severely beaten face.

It was reported their fight was over whether the Eagles' game Sunday against Washington should be played in view of President Kennedy's death. The game was played, and Philadelphia lost 12-10.

Lettermen back and little height. In seasons past, however, Jorgensen has done some of his best work with just such squads.

Two Rivers has eight lettermen, New London has seven, Kaukauna five and Shawano four. Shawano's biggest problem will be to replace the conference two-time scoring champion Tom Wagner.

A rundown on each of the teams follows:

KIMBERLY — Zilges, Levknecht, Gary Kroner (5-10), John DeWilde (6-2), and Jerry Wynagaard (6-3) are the returning lettermen. Mickey Vandehy, who started last season as a starting guard, has returned to the squad.

Jim Vanden Boogaard (6-4), a javayee grad, and sophomore John Reider (5-9) are also leading candidates for regular jobs. Others on the team are Mark Seidel (5-10), Steve Meyer (6-1), Keith Buchberger (6-0), and another sophomore, Jim Vanden Heuvel (6-2). The Papermakers whipped Appleton, 81-53, in their opener.

MENASHA—Much depends on Pawlowski's knee at Menasha as he will be the key man in Coach Massey's new style of play. Other lettermen are Barry Conway, Pat Kenney and Jim Walter. Another letterman, Bob Wendt, may not play this year due to a severe knee injury.

Another key player will be sophomore Don Steffin, whom

The Lawrence College Varsity basketball team steamed away in the second half Tuesday night and clipped the Viking Frosh, 88-68 in the annual game at Alexander gym before a good-sized crowd.

The Vikings, playing their first game for new Coach Clyde Rusk scored 52 points in a fine display of second half shooting and running that left the freshmen far behind. The Varsity led by 20 points through most of the final 20 minutes.

Joel Ungrodt, the sparkling 5-10 guard from Wausau who already holds about every Viking record, led a varsity scoring parade, which had six players county nine points or more. Ungrodt had 20.

Starts Slowly

The Varsity started slowly and trailed the Frosh through the first 12 minutes. With Mike O'Fallon leading the way, the Frosh built up leads of as much as six points. But an Ungrodt-Luke Groser led resurgence gave the Varsity a 36-32 intermission lead.

Ungrodt, Sheboygan's Rick Kroos and lettermen Steve Nault began hitting from the outside and Menasha's Tom Steinmetz from the side as the Varsity quickly increased their margin to 20 points early in the second half.

Steinmetz, making his first Varsity start, finished with 15 while Nault had 14 and Kroos 10. Groser and Earl Hoover, both regulars last year, each

Orioles Add $25,000

Baltimore Trades Gentile for Siebern

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles, willing to sacrifice power for consistent hitting and hustle, have swapped moody slugger Jim Gentile to the Kansas City Athletics in exchange for Norm Siebern.

The Orioles had to sweeten the pot with $25,000 in cash to swing Tuesday's trade of first ager Pat Friday of the Athletics saying, "You can bet we will be trying to make further trades at the winter meeting. We are looking for a center fielder with power."

After a great 1961 season, when he slugged 46 homers, drove in 141 runs and batted .302, Gentile has slipped to .251 and .248 the past two years. His home run output dropped to 33, and then 24.

The 29-year-old left-handed batter led the club in two unofficial departments — breaking his bat deliberately after striking out and failing to run out grounders and fly balls.

Siebern, 30, and also a left-handed batter, hit 16 homers and drove in 83 runs with a .272 average last season.

Gentile Siebern basemen, indicating how Gentile's market value has slumped along with his batting average and home runs during the past two seasons.

For the Athletics, striving mightily to add power to their attack, it was the second major deal in the past eight days. On Nov. 18, the A's sent second baseman Jerry Lumpe and pitchers Ed Rakow and Dave Wickersham to Detroit in exchange for slugger Rocky Colavito and pitcher Bob Anderson. In Kansas City, General Man-

Terrors, Bluejays Battle Tonight on Menasha Court

AHS Eyes Comeback; Jay '5' Strives for Second Win

Appleton's highly-regarded but as yet unimpressive Terrors battle the Menasha Bluejays tonight in the Menasha High School Gym.

Coach Dick Emanuel's crew will be trying to avoid a repeat of last season's start when the Terros lost to Kimberly, 67-63 in two overtimes, and then followed with a 64-61 loss to Menasha in the next game.

Kimberly and Lee Levknecht took care of the first part Monday night with an 81-53 victory. 3 Free Throws

In the 1962 Appleton-Menasha tilt, the Bluejays sank three free throws in the last 50 seconds after the Terros had erased a 59-50 deficit with 3:54 left to tie the count at 61 all. Bob Wendt, now suffering from a leg injury, sank the first charity toss with :50 showing on the clock and Jim Walter netted a pair of gift shots just 13 seconds later.

Menasha defeated West DePere, 60-46, in its opening game this season. The team will be without the services of starting guard Barry Conway for the tilt. Conway suffered a borken hand in practice earlier this week and could be out for a month.

Rick Zimmerman may probably take his place as Pat Kenney's running mate. Jim Walter and Dick Sorensen will be the forwards and Mark Pawlowski, who tallied 14 points against West DePere to pace the team, will be the center.

Coach Clem Massey will likely call upon Don Steffen as the first replacement in the lineup. Steffen, a sophomore, can work at either forward or center.

New Offense

Massey has installed a new single-post offense this season, with Pawlowski as the key figure.

The Menasha mentor and Milwaukee Marquette coach John Glaser, have been working out details on the new system for the last three years. Glaser used the same offense as Marquette finished runnerup for the state Catholic title last March.

AHS Coach Dick Emanuel has not indicated whether he will make any changes in his starting lineup. Sure to start are forwards Brian Bock and Tom Callaway, who supplied the only consistent Terror scoring Monday.

Cards' Wilson Named NFL's Player of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Y. A. Tittle took great pride in his record of only four interceptions in the first 10 games played by the New York Giants. Then Sunday he had two intercepted in the same ball game. Larry Wilson of St. Louis came up with both as the Cardinals upset the Giants 24-17.

As a result of Wilson's fine defensive play in the Cards' deep defense, he was named Player of the Week in the National Football League by The Associated Press.

Wilson's specialty in four years as a safety man in the NFL has been his colorful blitz play from the safety spot. He is a rangy 6-foot, 190-pounder with good speed and quick hands. In his high school days at Rigby, Idaho, he was a full-back. At Utah he was a half-back. The interceptions were his third and fourth of the season.

day. Neil Weber, who was held scoreless by Kimberly, is the likely starter at center.

Gary Hietpas, who didn't start Monday but played about half the game, may get the opening call at a guard spot, opposite Chuck McKee or Jim Bertschy. Hietpas, who has had a slow recovery from a football knee injury, moved fairly well at Kimberly but his maneuverability was still short of 100 per cent.

Army-Navy Tilt Postponed

Game Set Back To Dec. 7; Texas Plays Thursday

BY MIKE RATHET

Army and Navy will meet in their traditional football battle—but a week later than scheduled — and will bring down the curtain on a 10-day period beginning Thanksgiving that figuratively find bowl offers frantically flung around the country. The decision on the Army-Navy game came Tuesday from the Pentagon and overshadowed two other major developments—the naming of Navy's Roger Staubach as the Heisman Trophy winner and Louisiana State University's acceptance of a Bluebonnet Bowl bid.

The Army-Navy game will be pushed back to Dec. 7 — Pearl Harbor Day — in deference to the memory of the late President Kennedy. The Pentagon said the Kennedy family intervened so that the annual service classic would not be canceled.

Will Dedicate Game

The official statement said the game will be dedicated to his memory.

Meanwhile, Illinois and Michigan State prepared for their Big Ten clash, a Thanksgiving Day battle that will fill one of the Rose Bowl spots. Other bowl candidates also will be in action Thursday, as well as Saturday.

The winner of the Big Ten battle between the fourth-ranked Spartans and eighth-ranked Illinois at East Lansing, Mich., gets a Rose berth against a Big Six opponent which will come out of two Saturday games. Washington at Washington State and Southern California at UCLA.

Washington has the inside track. Also headlining the Thursday program is the meeting between Texas and arch rival Texas A&M plus games involving bowl hopefuls Syracuse and North Carolina. The Orange, who meet Notre Dame in New York, could wind up in the Gator Bowl against the Tar Heels, who are at Duke.

Roger Pillath Will Leave UW Grid Squad For Father's Funeral

MADISON (AP)—Starting left tackle Roger Pillath of the University of Wisconsin football squad left the training camp Tuesday because of the death of his father.

Funeral services for Arthur Pillath, 55, of Pound in Marinette County were scheduled for today.

The younger Pillath told Coach Milt Bruhn he would not be available for Thursday's Big Ten finale with Minnesota in Minneapolis.

Bays Eye Revenge For Loss to Lions

Navy Quarterback Roger Staubach Tuesday was named the 29th winner of the Heisman Trophy. Staubach, a junior from Cincinnati, won the award as college football player of 1963 with 1,860 points from votes of sportswriters and broadcasters. (AP Wire-photo)

Teams Clash Thursday In Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—The Green Bay Packers are quitting the traditional series of Thanksgiving Day games at Detroit—but the Detroit Lions have one more chance Thursday to spoil a holiday for Packers fans.

The Lions banished Green Bay's holiday cheer last Thanksgiving by dumping the National Football League's Western Division leaders, 26-14. The Packers still finished first, but the Lions won in embarrassing style, continually throwing quarterback Bart Starr for losses.

Detroit is in a better position to ruin the Packers this season, since a loss would all but knock Green Bay out of the title running.

The Packers, with a 9-2 record, are on the heels of the division-leading Chicago Bears, who have a 9-1-1 mark. They need three victories and a Chicago loss to win the division title.

Thursday's battle pits the NFL's toughest pass defense against one of the most rapidly improving passers in the league.

Detroit's Earl Morrall, who completed just 34 per cent of his passes in his first five games this season, completed 57 per cent in the last six games.

3 Team Records

And Morrall is closing in on two team records. He needs six touchdown passes to break Bobby Layne's mark of 26 in a season, and he needs less than 400 yards to break Layne's season record yardage total of 2,403. Both records were set in a 12-game schedule in 1951.

The Packers, in latest NFL statistics, are the best at breaking up pass plays. They have allowed opponents to complete just 47.1 per cent of their passes.

Detroit's pass defense has been hurt in recent games by injuries to defensive backs Dick (Night Train) Lane and Yale Lary. Both have been in practice this week, but still are doubtful starters.

Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi says he expects his squad to be in good physical condition, including halfback Tom Moore, who missed most of last Sunday's game after a finger was poked in his eye.

Because of travel, Lombardi said, the Packers had only one chance for good practice—Tuesday's workout.

Claiming that the Thanksgiving Day game at Detroit doesn't give him enough time to get his men ready, Lombardi has been trying for years to get out of the game.

He convinced NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle that after Thursday the Western Division teams should take turns playing at Detroit on Thanksgiving Day.

The Thanksgiving Day game is the only regular season NFL game which always has played to capacity crowds and a nationwide television audience.

Northern Michigan Edges Titans, 74-71

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Oshkosh State played 10 minutes of good basketball here Tuesday night but it was not enough to win a ball game as Northern Michigan University dumped the Titans, 74-71, in the season opener for both teams.

OSC did not play steady basketball and numerous errors cost dearly. The taller Wildcats controlled the boards, as was expected, although the final statistics do not indicate the extent. Poor shooting from the free throw line (9 for 21) did not help either.

In the loss though, Coach Russ Young could find a few bright spots. His team made up a 16-point deficit in the final 10 minutes to close to within 1 point, 70-69, with 47 seconds to play but then could not regain control of the ball.

The play of two players in particular was heartening. Sophomore Jim Van Grinsven of Kimberly and junior Howie

Manawa Quint Triumphs Over Thunderbirds

Buschke Scores 17 Points in 56-47 CWC Win

MANAWA—Coach Stu Courchane got Manawa High School in the win column of the Central Wisconsin Conference Tuesday night as his Wolves meshed 60 per cent of their first-period field goal attempts to take a 23-13 lead, en route to a 56-47 conquest of Iola-Scandinavia.

The winners outscored the Thunderbirds, 12-4, in the second stanza as they found the nets at a 43 per cent clip to take an insurmountable 35-17 halftime lead.

Jim Buschke and Cal Pruess paced the Wolves' scoring with 17 and 12 points, respectively. Frank Lieschow chipped in with 10.

Howard Cleaves of I-S took game scoring honors with 18 markers.

The win evened Manawa's conference slate at 1-1, while the Thunderbirds are 0-2.

Bear Defense, Giant Offense Still Dominate NFL Statistics

NEW YORK (AP)—New York's offense and Chicago's defense continue to dominate the National Football League's weekly team statistics although the Giants were beaten Sunday and the Bears had to scramble for a tie in Pittsburgh.

Y. A. Tittle's passing is the big plus for the Giants' attack, accounting for about 65 per cent of the club's total offense of 4,051 yards in 11 games. The Giants' running attack puts them in the top half of the York's offense and Chicago's defense but over 600 yards behind Cleveland's leading 2,063 yards.

The Bears gave up 17 points to the Steelers in their tie game but still have allowed only 106 points, less than 10 a game. The next best is Green Bay's total of 162.

George Halas' Bears have given up only 2,507 yards including 1,058 rushing and 1,449 passing. Only 13 touchdowns have been scored against Chicago, five on the ground and eight passing.

The Giants' attack has scored 43 touchdowns. 31 in the air Cleveland's ground attack has the most yardage but Green Bay's has produced the most scores, 21.

Progress in Fighting Rheumatic Fever Told

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a rheumatic fever patient and was in the hospital twice last year. I am allergic to penicillin so I am taking sulfa once a day. I am 45 years old and didn't know I had rheumatic fever as a child. Please send me your booklet on "How to Take Care of Your Heart." I enclose the required 20 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

MRS. F. E.

Your letter is very interesting, and while you have some difficult problems, you've made progress in combatting them. The booklet explains about rheumatic fever as far as the heart is concerned. Rheumatic fever is a vicious disease. In the past many children and adults had it although it wasn't recognized. A mother thought the youngster "just had a sore throat," and passed off sulfa or some other drug is pre- the sore joints as "growing pains." This prevents the additive after a bit the child got over the damage which otherwise would result from repeat attacks. The defense against rheumatic fever is now extremely effective.

ress has been made in diagnosis in the last 10 or 20 years. So now (but not when you were a child) a great many rheumatic fever cases are being promptly identified. With modern drugs, usually penicillin, it is possible to protect a person for years, against a second (or third or fourth) attack of the disease. It isn't the initial onslaught of rheumatic fever that damages the heart, but the aftermath. The heart becomes inflamed, and then as it heals, the resultant scar tissue interferes with the action of the valves. Other, unrelated heart problems may add to the damage over the years. Or there may be repeated attacks of rheumatic fever, perhaps very mild ones, but the damage adds up and up. Not all "sore or strept" throats are rheumatic fever, but some are, and doctors keep a watchful eye on them. Treatment is usually by means of a special long-lasting penicillin, administered once a month. If a patient is hypersensitive to penicillin, a sore throat, and passed off sulfa or some other drug is pre- the sore joints as "growing pains." This prevents the additive after a bit the child got over the damage which otherwise would result from repeat attacks. The defense against rheumatic fever is now extremely effective.

Eye Floaters
Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about floaters in the eye.
—MRS. E. W.
These are colloidal particles or substances in the fluid with which the eyeball is filled. They are not serious but they can be most annoying, especially if you worry about them.
Bartholin Cyst
Dear Dr. Molner: What is a Bartholin cyst? Should it be removed? Could it be cancerous?
—MRS. S. D.
The Bartholin glands are in the vagina. If one is plugged or closed, it becomes a cyst. It is not cancerous, but it should be removed promptly.
Clean Teeth
Dear Dr. Molner: Is a combination of baking soda and salt all right to clean the teeth?
—M. M. M.
Yes.
Note to Mrs. S.H.H. and others: Conception can occur regardless of whether one or both parties are intoxicated. Chronic alcoholism in either individual may interfere with conception. Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long.

Lucille Ball Recalls Her Road to Success

Famous Red-Haired Star Sitting on One
Of Biggest Gold Mines in Show Business

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — "I look and sound like a bold person, but I'm not," said Lucille Ball. "But I'm a happy person now."

There are exterior reasons why she should be happy. The famous redhead is a star in her own right, and as president of the $25-million-a-year Desilu Productions, Inc., she is sitting atop one of the biggest gold mines in show business.

"But what makes you happy in this business is just being a part of it," she said. "I never have fought over questions of billing or money. My biggest thrill is in being recognized as an accomplished performer."

No Different

"Success to me is just a steady, go-to-meeting, work-a-day continuance. I don't feel any different. There are more people to help, but that's no problem. It's a pleasure."

Miss Ball, looking far more fetching in her pajamas than the general run of corporate heads, abandoned her bowl of luncheon rice pudding and laid aside the script she had been reading. She walked to the window of her hotel living room and glanced out into the rain.

She recalled an incident of her youth, when she was an obscure model here, hoping that somehow, sometime she would be able to land a job as a show-girl.

"I had the usual starving, freezing time here," she said. "I don't look upon that time as the good old days. I was making $25 to $50 a week. I was shy as a kid I didn't have any dates I never saw the inside of a night club."

"I didn't mind the fact that this success came so gradually," she said, turning away from the window.

"I thought I was doing fine. I was happy. I had a wonderful apprenticeship. I would have worked for nothing."

To her chief sins in life are ingratitude and self-pity. "The thing that held me back for years was being too willing to see the other guy's side before I did my own," she said.

"That way you can wind up be-fetching in her pajamas than the general run of corporate heads, abandoned her bowl of luncheon rice pudding and laid aside the script she had been reading. She walked to the win-dow of her hotel living room and glanced out into the rain."

Gospel Music Concert Will Be Presented At Lawrence Chapel

The Spurrilows, a group of 31 college-age musicians, will present a special concert of Gospel music at 815 p.m. Saturday at the Lawrence Chapel.

The group is appearing in Wisconsin as part of a national tour. The concert is sponsored by the Fox Cities Youth for Christ.

The Spurrilows carry more than 10 tons of their own stage properties, lighting and sound equipment with them to provide backgrounds for choral numbers and orchestrations of old and new hymns and Gospel music.

The concert is called "A New World of Sight and Sound."

Chrysler to Build Plant in Illinois

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. announced Tuesday it had selected Flora Township, Ill., as the site for its eighth assembly plant.

Lynn A. Townsend, Chrysler president, said the new plant will be built on 280-acres near Belvidere. It will have a capacity of 960 cars a day and employ about 5,000 workers.

Townsend said several weeks ago that Michigan, Indiana and Illinois were under consideration as possible sites for two new Chrysler plants—an assembly plant and a stamping unit.

Sterling Township, Mich., has been mentioned as the possible location for the stamping plant.

Hysteria Reigns on 11th Hour

BY TV SCOUT
9-10 (Channel 4-5)—The Eleventh Hour takes over where Dr. Kildare left off and concludes the two-part, two-program tale of an unwed mother, an unwed father and four wed and worried grandparents. All four doctors are on hand to deal with this problem presented in slightly hysterical fashion.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 2)—An aspect of movie-making which the average theater-goer seldom thinks about is explored by CBS Reports "The Flight From Hollywood." That's the business of movies—subsidies, tax loopholes and such. The program traces the post-World War II problems of Hollywood which have led to so many made-out-of-Hollywood films.

6:30-8 (Channel 4-5)—The Virginian has much ado about not very much. Joan Freeman plays the rich Eastern girl who wants the aloof cowboy (James Drury) and succeeds only in interesting the impressionable cowboy (Dick York). (Color)

7-7:30 (Channel 12)—The Patty Duke Show continues to get some laughs out of tired situations. Cathy (Miss Duke) wants to play Cleopatra in a school play but Patty (Patty) gets the part.

8-8:30 (Channel 2)—The only Thanksgiving-timed show is The Beverly Hillbillies which stuffs its bird with corn-fed gags. Elly May (Donna Douglas) falls in love with Herman, the turkey. And nobody will kill it.

8-9 (Channel 11)—Vincent Edwards makes his directorial debut with this Ben Casey and does a competent job. The story line and characters are something else. Mary Astor is a gon-freak-blind opera singer and Helen Heckart her over-protective companion.

8-9 (Channel 4-5)—Espionage is poorly-made and poorly-directed, but gradually works up some interest. Bill Travers plays a priest in an Arabian country. Appalled at conditions, he leads a demonstration and finds himself trapped between the forces which want to revolt and the president who wants to use him to quell the revolt.

9-10 (Channel 2)—Nancy Walker helps the proprietor give The Danny Kave Show a very funny hour. From its hilarious black-out opener to Danny's ending with The Clinger Sisters, this is top quality variety.

Safe Driving, Full Car Check Urged for Thanksgiving Trip

MADISON — "Keep Thanks- roadworthy auto," Schutz con-giving a time for being thank-ful! Adopt safe attitudes in your driving," says Dan F. Schutz, safety director of the motor vehicle department.

"Thousands will drive to parental homes to partake of the traditional turkey-and-trimming dinner with their folks for the Thanksgiving holiday," Schutz observed.

"Before starting out for your holiday destination, give your car a safety checkup," the safety director urged.

Check Car Lights

"See that all lights work. Make sure the battery is 'up' and the brakes function properly," he advised. "Is the defrost- er dependable? Are the wind- shield wiper blades in need of replacement? Do your tires have good treads? Do your tires have reinforced tire chains for use in event of glare ice or deep snow? Have you installed, and do you use, seat belts?"

Once everything is in readi- ness for that holiday trip back home, getting there is largely up to you, Schutz said.
